Gorton H.S. is the December School of the Month

Yonkers Mayor Mike Spano recently visited members of the City Council, Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools Dr. Edwin Quezada to present the School of the Month Award for December 2016 to the deserving administration, faculty, staff, parents and students at Gorton High School.

Under the leadership of Principal Gail Joyner-White, Gorton H.S. is achieving great success with its various programs resulting in an increase in community participation, overall New York State testing and graduation rates. Gorton High School, over the course of the last four years, has placed a strong focus on the overall quality of education given to our students, said Spano. "Improvement at the school has experienced an increase in its graduation rate, rising 25 percentage points, and it in New York State English language arts standardized testing scores by 30 percentage points."

Gorton was also recognized for its Smart Scholars Early College Program and its Future Leaders, Inspired and Getting a Head Start on Tomorrow Program, also known as F .L.I.G.H.T. Within its smart scholars program, students in grades nine through 11 can receive a minimum of 24 college credits at no cost to families. Also, in the F .L.I.G.H.T program, students graduate six months ahead of schedule, allowing them to start college a semester earlier than expected, or enter the workforce to gain real workforce experience needed to succeed in life.

"On behalf of the Board of Education trustees, we congratulate the entire Gorton High School community on receiving this well-deserved award," said Board of Education President Rev. Steve Lopez. "The accomplishments of Gorton’s students are directly related to the commitment and ongoing support of the administrators, teachers and support staff at the school. The students are thriving because they understand it takes hard work and time to accomplish their goals for graduation, college and careers."

"Gorton High School Principal Gail Joyner-White, the administrative team and the teachers have relentlessly worked to transform the learning community around college and career readiness for every student," added Superintendent Quezada. "I applaud the students and staff for truly embracing the work and long-term sustainability of My Brother’s Keeper. Gorton is nurturing high school students to evolve into life-long mentors. The students learn the importance of mentoring by tutoring the young elementary children with the knowledge that they have committed to be their brother’s keepers for many years to come."

Spano School of the Month recognition program began in January 2014 in a way to celebrate the significant academic success, extracurricular achievements and community voluntarism of Yonkers’ students, teachers, administration and staff at Yonkers Public Schools.
A Visit to a Friend

Eric W. Schoen

I won't be making a visit to a friend, that's for sure. I understand you have been there in the hospital in Orlando, but I think we can share the news directly. Uncle Phil was a child of the Depression, always scraping for pennies and keeping an eye on what was going on. He always had a plan for his money and never wasted it on unnecessary things.

My visits to Uncle Phil in Florida would continue on Page 8.

Grace Borroni: Fighting Back and Standing Tall

By Dan Murphy

The news about Mr. Garcia's visits to the home of a friend in foreclosure is not a testament to my ability as a single, hardworking mother. While bankruptcy is an option in our legal system, I prefer to use my own resources to pay for my mortgage. If Mr. Garcia wishes to poke holes in my story, he should look at the facts and figures, not baseless accusations.

The story, published Jan. 4, cites Borrani as an elected official of the Hispanic Federation of Connecticut and a member of the Hispanic Federation Committee. Surely there are other elected officials who can provide accurate information. In the end, I am a single, hardworking mother fighting for my rights. If Mr. Garcia wishes to poke holes in my story, he should look at the facts and figures, not baseless accusations.
