This year’s NCC MLK Jr. celebration honored the Hon. Janet Maloney, the Hon. Bruce Tebbit, the Hon. Kathy Davidson, the Hon. Darnell Vale, the Hon. Thomas Gutmann, Cecilia Tucker-Mayers and Henry Helm. Photo by Donna Davis.

The Neperhan Community Center held its annual Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. celebration Jan. 16 with a dinner at the Castle Royale. The master of ceremonies was Broadway and film actor Sol and Laura Lardieri, the keynote speaker was Bishop David Daniel Evans, and the Neperhan Community Center Youth Choir entertained the crowd with song.

NCC Executive Director Dr. Jim Bonic welcomed all and gave out this year’s Distinguished Service Awards to five judges: the Hon. Janet Maloney, Bruce Tebbit, Kathy Davidson, Evan Iler and Thomas Quinones.

Community Service Awards were given to Cecilia Tucker-Mayers and Henry Helm.

Recently elected Westchester District Attorney Anthony Scacciano attended the event, along with Mayor Mike Spano, Council President Lou McClaughlin, Councilman Christopher Johnson and Council Minority Leader Michael Sabatino.

Detectives Who Solved Nolan Murder to Honored

The Exchange Club of Yonkers, as part of its annual crime prevention program, will honor 11 members of the Yonkers Police Department Detective Squad B No. 2 with the 2017 Yonkers Police Office of the Year Award. They were being recognized for their work in the investigation of the shooting of Michael Nolan in Yonkers.

At about 12:30 a.m. Sept. 18, 2015, it was reported that a male had been shot at the parking lot at the Burger King located at 826 Central Park Ave. Police arrived at the scene and found that Michael Nolan had been shot several times in the head, arm and torso. He was transported to Jacobi Medical Center where he fought for his life for several weeks. However, on Oct. 5, Nolan succumbed to his injuries.

The 11 members of the YPD that worked the Nolan case were Detectives Dale Hughes, Nicholas Servidio, Michael Kilgore, David Russell, Hector Cartagena, William Griffith, Megan Madaus, Dennis Mullin, Joanne Castoro and Detectives Sgt. Charles DeMatteo, and Assistant Detective Sgt. Charley DeLattro.

Detectives Hughes, Servidio and DeLattro, also the only two members of Squad 2 responded to the scene for the night of the shooting and continued the investigation. The detectives were left with little to work with. There was a report that a yellow Honda 82000 posted on Instagram by a speculator on a different “car meet” links on several social media websites, and located a photo of a distinctive yellow Honda 82000 posted on Instagram by a speculator.Ｃ

Hughes and Servidio then began to scour the different social media websites for vehicles and or nicknames provided by Adhin. After searching through hundreds of photos, information gathered from the websites were forwarded to the Westchester District attorney’s office Investigator Michael Arias, and Detective Sgt. Charles DeLattro.

In the evening of Sept. 18, while another vehicle, a white Honda that waswheeled in a distinctive image was found in a driveway hours before the shooting, and a video was recorded from a cell phone of Central Drive while the vehicle was being driven.

Hughes and Servidio continued their investigations by going door to door, and interviewing several high school students in the area. Hughes, Servidio and DeLattro ascertained that the shooting did not happen in a “random” way, but that the group already knew who the victims were. The group began to enter the “arena” at the different “car meet” sites and social media websites, and located a photo of a distinctive “yellow Honda 82000” posted on Instagram by a specific screen name.

The detectives confronted the individual, and verified that the individual was responsible for the group of investigators who were being targeted and isolated by the detectives.

Those people went back to the rest of their group and continued to the parking lot, in an area that was abandoned, and entered the vehicle that was found in a driveway hours before the shooting.

Through their interviews and investigation, the detectives were able to determine that the individuals who were believed to be in the four vehicles that had been involved in the shooting, were part of a group of investigators who were being targeted and isolated by the detectives.

Dedicated advisor to many of Westchester’s major municipalities holds a position of influence on issues concerning people with disabilities in the Ceremonial Court Room in Yonkers City Hall on Jan. 12. The Mayor’s Disability Advisory Board of Yonkers conceived and produced the Conference of Disability Advisory Groups to share mission and urgent plans, and procedures, to advance greater effectiveness for each community.

Encouraged by this initiative, Mayor Mike Spano noted: “Giving a voice to all citizens of Yonkers is important to me. For our city to thrive, we must provide for safety, security and a chance for prosperity for everyone – which includes responding to special needs of individuals.”

Mayor Susan Gerry launched the commitment, praising these mutual endeavors to accomplish important results.

MDAB was founded by Spano and complements other city advisory boards. Its mission was articulated by the mayor following the swearing in of the five-member board in September 2015: “To help raise awareness of the needs of the disabled persons in Yonkers. MDAB board members include: Marlene Hacklett, Carole Costello, Patricia Dinges, Gino Miskel and John Mahoney. Chief Burns serves as liaison to the mayor.

Of the other municipalities joining MDAB in its regularly-scheduled board meetings, three of the five having existing, comparable advisory groups.

Participants include Anna Danoy, director of community services of Mamaroneck; Kelly Johnson, chairperson of the New Rochelle Advisory Committee for People with Disabilities; and Shawn Gross, chairperson of the Council of Disabilities of Scarsdale. Jim Palmer, Bronxville village administrator, was unable to attend.

Assemblyman Tom Steffen, chairperson of Mayor’s Advisory Council for People with Disabilities of White Plains, proposed a cooperative initiative with MDAB and chairman Miskel, who will attend the White Plains’ Advisory Council meeting Jan. 25.

Additional discussion topics included assuring accessibility as mandated in the Americans with Disabilities Act, outreach and publicity, accomplishments, planned activities and projects, and organization and membership. “We’re all moving toward the same goals, and we all learned new ideas from each other,” said Mahoney.

In its 16 months, MDAB of Yonkers has accomplished stronger cooperation with the city’s police and fire departments to improve specialized emergency response, planning implementation of accessible pedestrian signals, strategizing Yonkers’ participation in New York State’s Complete Streets Program, and creating sidewalk improvements to the Department of Transportation and Engineering.

MDAB’s statement of mission, goals and objectives may be found at yonkersny.gov/government/boards-commissions/advisory-boards/disability-advisory-board. For more information, email susan.gerry@yonkers.ny.us.

pina Perez and Campaign Chairman Consuelo Prieto, once friends and political allies, have now become bitter enemies, with one saying the other was carrying out the will of New York City Democratic bosses. There are those who believe the move to split with the IDC was coming, and that the minority of the Senate that both Klein and the IDC members represent is the Democratic nominee of the winner of most New York families and reduce child care costs.

In her remarks on the first day in session this year, Senate Majority Leader Stewart-Cousins, D-Westchester, said: “As we start the 2017 legislative session, let us talk a little about where we are in this moment of transition for New York State. Of course, the need for progress is not new to this state, or to this Senate Majority.”

While the Senate may be in transition, and its majority in shift, the issues that affect New York families do not change. We know from working with the Senate Majority in the past few years that New York families are facing budget cuts, and the threat of new cuts looms over us.

There is no doubt that the most pressing issue facing New York families today is education, and the role of the Senate Majority in this moment is to push for a budget that is fair and fully funds our schools.

In her remarks on the first day in session this year, Senate Majority Leader Stewart-Cousins, D-Westchester, said: “As we start the 2017 legislative session, let us talk a little about where we are in this moment of transition for New York State. Of course, the need for progress is not new to this state, or to this Senate Majority.”

While the Senate may be in transition, and its majority in shift, the issues that affect New York families do not change. We know from working with the Senate Majority in the past few years that New York families are facing budget cuts, and the threat of new cuts looms over us.

There is no doubt that the most pressing issue facing New York families today is education, and the role of the Senate Majority in this moment is to push for a budget that is fair and fully funds our schools.

On March 10, 2016, the Grand Jury indicted the four members of Saratoga Pines and two others on charges of armed robbery, first-degree assault and first-degree murder. The shooter, Hunter, was arrested and charged with first-degree murder.

After hearing all the evidence, the Grand Jury returned a true bill charging the Operator of the Camry, Garth Branch, with first-degree murder. The Grand Jury returned a true bill charging Branch with first-degree murder.

Delilah Needs a Home

The Yonkers Animal Shelter has many pets available for adoption. Delilah is a sweet, youthful senior between 8 and 9 years old who was left tied outside the shelter on a rainy day two weeks ago. She was happy to get inside, get dry and has a good meal. Since the day she arrived, she has thought she was at a five-star hotel. Delilah enjoys gentle for every kindness she is shown, as she’s sweet and gentle, and walks well on a leash. She knows some basic commands and is friendly with both cats and dogs. Not only will Delilah make a wonderful companion for anyone looking for a calm and gentle older dog.

The shelter is open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day. For more information, call 914-863-9320.
