Look Who's Going To Super Bowl 51!

By Dan Murphy

Congratulations to Doug Grey, winner of the 2017 Yonkers Police Athletic League's Super Bowl raffle! Grey has won $100,000 in the raffle, and he will now travel to Houston, Texas, to watch the big game between the New England Patriots and Atlanta Falcons.

The PAL held a Super Bowl raffle party last Sunday to watch the AFC and NFC Championship games and to pick the winning tickets. The PAL used the raffle once again to help fund its programs for young adults in the city, and beyond.

The Yonkers City Council Education Committee met Tuesday with Schools Superintendent Dr. Edwin Quezada to discuss the Journal News report released earlier this month that found the free and reduced-price school breakfast and lunch program at Yonkers Public Schools to be running a deficit of more than $600,000, primarily because of parents not filling out the application for free and reduced-price breakfast and lunch, and because some parents were not paying the $20 per week for their child to eat 10 meals each month. Students that are not eligible for the free and reduced-price lunch program, paid for via federal government funding, have to pay $3 per day in elementary schools for breakfast and lunch, and $4.50 per day in the secondary schools for both meals.

Quezada confirmed the Journal News report to the council and admitted that the district is pursuing all options moving forward to get parents to fill out applications and pay their required share. “If you are not eligible (for free lunch) you have to pay your financial obligation,” he said. “If you’re $20 per week, there is no reason you shouldn’t be able to pay the $20.”

While prior contracts between the YFT and the city did not need council approval, the new contract falls under the terms of the inter-municipal agreement that became law three years ago as a mechanism to monitor and oversee budgeting and spending in YPS. Under the IMA, the mayor negotiates the YFT contract, but the City Council approves it.

Yonkers Idol searches for its next singing sensation

Yonkers Mayor Mike Spano and the Yonkers Department of Parks, Recreation and Conservation last week announced that the city is searching for Yonkers’ next great young singers to compete in February for the title of Yonkers Junior Idol 2017 and Yonkers Idol 2017.

Celebrating its 15th year, this three-round competition will kick off at the Nodine Hill Community Center on Saturday, Feb. 11 at 9 a.m. Yonkers residents are encouraged to register for the competition at www.YonkersNY.gov/Yonkers Idol.

“Yonkers Idol is a wonderful tradition in our city, bringing together the very best singing talent our city has to offer,” said Spano. “I’m impressed each year by the caliber of singers at such a young age and I look forward to attending the finale each year.”

This year’s competition will kick off at the Nodine Hill Community Center on Saturday, Feb. 11 at 9 a.m. Visit www.YonkersNY.gov for more information.

Those interested in auditioning must be between the ages of 10 and 14 years of age to qualify for Yonkers Junior Idol. First auditions will be a cappella and limited to one verse and one chorus of a song. Women will hold their title for a year and win $1,000, courtesy of the Untermyer Performing Arts Council Teresa Fund. The title provides performance opportunities at various City of Yonkers events throughout the year.

Call-backs from the Feb. 11 auditions are scheduled for Monday, Feb. 13, the location for the call-backs will be announced at a later date. The final round of competition will take place at a date to be announced. Call-backs will audition a different song for the final show.

Online registration is required and open to Yonkers residents only. Walk-ins are welcome.

For more information on the competition, visit www.YonkersNY.gov, or call 914-377-6444 for more information.

Young Families are encouraged to bring their own refreshments.

For more information on Yonkers’ annual Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament on Saturday, March 26 at Van der Donck Park and the daylighted Saw Mill River, visit www.nysparks.com or call 914-593-4027, ext. 102.

Philips Manor Hall State Historic Site invites the public to get out of the house and enjoy free films in the Gothic Chamber, with the return of the Saturday Family Movie Series.

Films will be shown on the last Saturday of the month at 3 p.m. For each of the dates, families are invited to enjoy a free movie at the site. Courtesy of the Friends of Philips Manor Hall, audiences are encouraged to bring their own refreshments and a blanket if they prefer to watch the movie from the floor.

All films are rated PG and are shown in the Gothic Chamber of Philips Manor Hall, a structure dating from the 1840s and the oldest standing building in Westchester County. The site is located at 29 Warburton Ave., across from Van der Donck Park and the daylighted Saw Mill River.

The following lineup of films has been announced for 2017:

- “Kung Fu Panda II” on Saturday, Jan. 28 – Everyone’s favorite noodle chef-turned-marital-arts expert, Po, continues searching for his origins and his true identity. While saving China has continued to increase his popularity, it has also caused him to question himself and further seek the truth about his family and where he started. Will Po finally learn who he is and where he comes from?

- “Ice Age: Continental Drift” on Saturday, Feb. 25 – After surviving the Ice Age and the brief return of dinosaurs, vikings join their favorite mammal herd as the continent begins to break apart. Manny, Sid and Diego become separated from the group as they are set adrift on an iceberg floating out to sea, with no obvious way back. Will they be able to reunite with the rest of their friends and family, or will the sea claim another victim?

- “Beauty and the Beast” on Saturday, March 25 – As the live-action treatment approaches theaters during the same week, visitors to the Manor Hall can view the classical 1991 version of the classic tale.

- “The Jungle Book” on Saturday, April 29 – Visitors will get to see the 2016 live-action treatment of the classic tale, “the man-cub” raised by a wolf-pack, and his encounters with Baloo, Bagheera, Shere Khan and other characters of the jungle. Attendees to this film will get to vote on which film will be shown May 27.

More information or questions on programs at Philips Manor Hall can be directed to 914-965-4027, ext. 102.

Philips Manor Hall State Historic Site is regularly open for tours Tuesday through Saturday from noon to 4 p.m. (5 p.m. from April to October). For additional information, visit http://nysparks.com/historic-sites/37/details.aspx.

Free Tax Counseling Available to Seniors

Yonkers’ Office for the Aging, together with the Internal Revenue Service and the Yonkers Public Library, will again offer a tax assistance program from the American Association of Retired Persons and the AARP Foundation, and sponsored by the City of Yonkers, to help low-income seniors file their tax returns for 2016. AARP Tax-Aide is a program that allows for in-person income-tax preparers age 60 and older to have more easier access to the help they need to file their tax returns, by assisting with tax services and ensuring their returns are filed accurately. The tax preparer receives accurate credits and deductions.

Paying your taxes can be a stressful and confusing time for seniors and tax preparers. We want to make sure we give every effort to provide our senior residents with all the aid they qualify for. "We want the seniors to understand this is a free service. We don’t want there to be any confusion," said Mayor Mike Spano. "This tax aide program is designed for seniors every step of the way."

Trained volunteer tax counselors will be on hand to assist seniors at the Yonkers Public Library, 351 East 12th Street, on Fridays, from 10 a.m. to noon, and Saturdays, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., from Jan. 27 to April 15. AARP Foundation Tax-Aide is a program that allows for in-person income-tax preparers age 60 and older to have more easier access to the help they need to file their tax returns, by assisting with tax services and ensuring their returns are filed accurately. The tax preparer receives accurate credits and deductions.

Helen Aggerry Appointed Second Deputy Corp. Counsel

Helen Aggerry has been appointed the City of Yonkers second deputy corporation counsel, announced Yonkers City Attorney Michael Curti on the morning of the Yonkers City Council last week, following the unanimous approval of the Yonkers City Council at its special meeting. The appointment will be the first female African-American serving in the position.

Aggerry has nearly a decade’s worth of legal experience, recently serving as an associate within the City of Yonkers Corporation Counsel.

"Helen will bring her impressive list of credentials to our department, coupling it with her extraordinary legal abilities to negotiate contracts as well as her operational leadership knowledge of the workings of law department," said Mayor Dennis Mealy. "Helens will prove to be exceptional at her new position and we are happy to have someone so capable and as we hold her second deputy corporation counsel." In her role, Aggerry will be positioned at the Yonkers Board of Education and tasked with the responsibility of providing counsel to the board school on a variety of matters relating to policy, procedure, contracts and the daily operation of the district. In addition, Aggerry will manage the board’s legal team consisting of attorneys and other legal aides, and will be responsible for the legal day-to-day operations, as well as managing various transactions and cases.

"I appreciate and look forward to the opportunity Mayor Spano has afforded me to serve the city in a larger capacity," said Aggerry. "I’m confident I have much to offer this great city with my varying perspectives on legal situations and fines which, I am excited to bring to my new position. I’m looking forward to continue the great work and to contribute the success that’s been seen in the City of Yonkers Corporation Counsel thus far."

"Helen is an accomplished attorney who has demonstrated exemplary public service and dedication to the law and justice," said City Corporation Counsel Michael Mealy. "I was proud to recommend her appointment to the mayor and am pleased that he has been swiftly confirmed by the Council." Aggerry will serve as the second deputy corporation counsel behind First Deputy Corporation Counsel Karen Ramsay, and will continue to report to City Corporation Counsel Michael Mealy.

DeMarzo Joins Elizabeth Seton Pediatric Center

The Elizabeth Seton Pediatric Center is welcoming Jeanne DeMarzo, M.S.N., R.N., C.N.M., as its first chief nursing officer. DeMarzo has spent almost 35 years in the nursing profession, beginning her career in nursing at Montefiore Medical Center in 1983 as a staff nurse on the neonatal intensive care unit. She progressively increased her clinical and operational responsibilities while at Montefiore, where she worked in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit as the administrative nurse manager for 18 years. Most recently, since 2008, DeMarzo has been the director of nursing at Montefioreneijos’ Einstein Campus, where she was charged with overall accountability for Montefiore’s ambulatory Newborn High-Risk Regional Part-tner Center, Medicine Care Centers and the Wagner Nursing Resource Center. In her new role, DeMarzo will oversee approximately 350 staff and will be responsible for providing strategic and operational leadership, ensuring operational excellence, centralization, coordination and staffing responsibilities.
An anonymous donor has provided $19,000 to Lifting Up Westchester to help fund its free home health aide training classes offered by the agency at the White Plains Education and Training Center. The grant was received through a competitive grant program offered by the Westchester Community Foundation, Lifting Up Westchester and the New York State Health Foundation.

Two classes of the aide training program are set to begin in April and May, with classes held on Mondays of even-numbered months – May 1, June 5, July 3, Aug. 7, Sept. 4, Oct. 2, Nov. 6 and Dec. 4. The course fees will be $150 per person, or $0 for those eligible for financial assistance. To register, go online to www.cityofwhiteplainswp.com or call 914-995-5969.

The lawmaking process can be a complex and challenging one, as Senator Jenkins pointed out. "It was moving to witness the support this measure received," he said. "It's a great day for Yonkers and for our communities." The legislation passed by the BOL. An override vote of this veto is expected to be scheduled for the next legislative session.

Senator Jenkins added Legislator Jenkins, who is the sponsor of the ban every term since 2010. "The advocacy of gun control is a good first step," he said. "We are all looking forward to the news of the outcome of this vote." The legislation was passed with a veto override vote of this veto.

Some of the members of the Yonkers Police Department expressed their support for the override vote. "I am proud to say I have enjoyed the privilege of being part of the Yonkers Auxiliary Police," said one of the members. "It has been a great experience for me and I have learned a lot from the other members."

The Auxiliary Police have changed over time, from being a group of volunteers to a group of professionals. The group was founded in 1942, but the current group was organized in 1946. The group is known as the "Auxiliary Police," and its members are volunteers.

The Auxiliary Police have changed over time, from being a group of volunteers to a group of professionals. The group was founded in 1942, but the current group was organized in 1946. The group is known as the "Auxiliary Police," and its members are volunteers.

While most school districts in Westchester have teacher contracts in constant with parents and students, some teachers email more than others, and some “old school” teachers don’t email at all.

During contract negotiations between YFT and the Board of Education, both the Board and the Spano administration wanted to include in the final contract the requirement that teachers respond to parent and student emails, but the item was removed and not a part of the final contract the idea to be to get the contract finalized to make sure that the YPS received $30 million in state aid.

A contract was negotiated at the same time, that included a teacher evaluation and improvement system, which were required by the state in order for teachers to maintain their full time state aid.

New York teachers evaluations, known as the Annual Professional Performance Review, have been approved and sent to all union officials. Council approval of the teachers’ contract remains the only outstanding issue.

Council sources tell Youkering Rising that a recent meeting between YFT President Pat Puleo and members of the City Council found Puleo lumière for the council had failed final approval of the new YFT deal. Accounts of the meeting have pale Puleo angered at the fact that teachers were not present to approve the contract. Puleo then went back to YFT members and building representatives to tell them their contract would not be approved without council approval. The YFT reps were not Thrilled to hear the news, and the fact that Paul was blamed for this, which can be found by reading the YMA.

Last year, four members of the City Council Republican majority called on Puleo to resign based on undercover videos from Project Veritas that showed Puleo and YFT Vice President Paul Diamond caught on tape explaining how to sweep allegations of child abuse and racial epitias that showed Puleo and YFT Vice President Vic Federico.

The same undercover operative posing as a teacher told Puleo and Diamond that he died for Mexico after the incident for two weeks, without contacting the school or anyone else.

Puleo has not forgotten this fact, which led Larkin in calling for Puleo’s resignation last year.

The teachers’ contract will be reviewed by a special council committee in two weeks.

should now approve that same contract.

The question of having YFT teachers rejected to respond to parent and student emails became an issue of concern to several members of the City Council, who said, “How do you tell parents, who are meant to be involved in their children’s education, that their teachers don’t have to respond to their emails?”

It's a dream of many to get paid to play, and it's a dream come true for one Tarrytown jobseeker.

Anthony Maddaloni is the new master model builder at Legoland Discovery Center Westchester at Ridge Hill in Yonkers. Maddaloni previously owned and operated Practically Alive, a special effects, makeup, prosthetics and props company in Queens. His artistic background and career in practical effects, combined with a passion for the Lego brand and working with children, vaulted him to the top of the bricks competition.

The master model builder recruitment process involved multiple stages. As part of the interview process, candidates shared their portfolios and professional experience, as well as images of past Lego builds. Those moving on to the final brick factor competition were faced with three themed creation build challenges, each 30 minutes long. Maddaloni combined his background in prop and special effects creation with a passion for building with Lego bricks to beat out other highly-qualified candidates.

"Anthony has all the qualities we look for in a master model builder," said Chris Mines, Legoland Discovery Center Westchester's general manager. "He brings his own unique creativity and passion to the job and blends in perfectly with Legoland Discovery Center Westchester's family, and its standards for the highest quality service of fun, play and education."

A graduate of Fairleigh Dickinson University, Maddaloni majored in filmmaking and minored in studio arts. He also spent a year in Ontario, Canada, participating in an advanced special effects graduate program.

"I've been playing with Lego bricks for almost as long as I can remember," said Maddaloni. "I used to create stories and adventures in my living room using my knights and pirates sets. As I got a little older, I realized I could bring the mini figures to life using stop-motion animation with our family camcorder. Art should inspire art and Lego is a great way to express that fandom. That passion for building and creating stories with Lego hasn't stopped and now I'm very excited to have such an innovative and unique job where I can share my love for creating with kids and Lego fans of all ages."

Legoland Discovery Center Westchester stimulates young minds to imagine, discover and create. Ideal for children age 3 to 10 years, the attraction offers a wide range of educational and interactive elements. Visitors can see New York’s top landmarks made out of Lego bricks, learn secrets from the master model builder, experience the attraction’s indoor soft play area, score big on two Lego rides, and enjoy a 4D Lego movie.

Legoland Discovery Center Westchester is located at 39 Fitzgerald St., Yonkers, and can be reached at 866-243-0770 or www.legolanddiscoverycenter.com/westchester. For the latest news and updates, follow @LDCWestchester on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

The Yonkers Animal Shelter has many pets available for adoption.

Meet Louie, a 3-year-old, 60-pound mixed-breed dog who has been at the shelter for many months. He was originally picked up as a stray, but was unclaimed and supposed to have been able to find a home. Louie is clearly a family pet. He's a dog and people-friendly, and loves to play – especially with a ball. He's agile and would make a great agility dog if given the opportunity.

Staff say Louie has excellent kennel manners, he never barks or destroys things, and is happy to see his person – especially if you are carrying a leash.

The Yonkers Animal Shelter is open seven days a week, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Tarrytown Man is New Legoland Master Builder

Welcome to Yonkers, Nico Leonard Spano

Congratulations to City Clerk Vincent Spano and wife, Jamie, on the birth of their son Nico Leonard Spano, who was born Jan. 20, 2017 at 12:17 p.m. Nico weighed in at 6 pounds, 7 ounces and both Nico and mom are healthy and doing well.

Nico is the 44th grandchild of Leonard and Josephine Spano – including 28 boys and 14 girls. Although he missed the recent Presidential election, Nico is said to be very interested in politics.

Tarrytown resident Anthony Maddaloni is in the king of Legoland and waiting for you at Ridge Hill.
