It takes a few key ingredients in order to mount a successful, outsider campaign for president – or any political office. First you need to get your candidacy out to the public, which means the media needs to pick up the story. Second, the realities of our campaign finance laws require that you have the resources, and have the ability to respond to negative television ads that distort your message. Finally, you need a rationale, or central campaign theme or message, which will resonant with voters.

Yonkers PD Civilian Academy Graduates 18

By Trail Feury

The sixth class of the Yonkers Police Department’s innovative program, the Civilian Police Academy, held graduation day for 18 cadets in December. I had the pleasure of taking this course and I keep all citizens of Yonkers to take the course, too. You will not be disappointed.

The course is offered at the First Precinct on Gunown Street and all new YPD recruits are also trained. With the leadership of Capt. Joseph Solitro and Lt. Richard Rezny, the course had 12 weeks in total – starting in September and finishing with graduation day in mid-December.

We learned early on in the course about Article 31 of the New York State Penal Law, which allows police officers to use deadly force if they believe that their lives or those of others would be endangered or if their property would be endangered.

We also learned about the concept of officer safety and how to secure a crime scene; the most important thing is dress us. Det. Sgt. Daniel Tracey gave a great class on how to secure a crime scene and explained the situation into the Penal Laws of arrest.

Every situation is different and the pressure is always there. The sixth class of the Yonkers Police Department’s Civilian Police Academy is always looking for new members. If you have the interest, contact Lt. Richard Ruyack at the YPD Training Unit at 914-377-7361 to register for the next class, possibly this spring? Contact Lt. Ruyack at 914-377-7361 to register for the next class, possibly this spring?

In the southwestern part of the course was the same gun as the guest speakers came to last at Det. Sgt. Daniel Tracey gave a great class on how to secure a crime scene; the most important thing is dress us. Det. Sgt. Daniel Tracey gave a great class on how to secure a crime scene and explained the situation into the Penal Laws of arrest. We were taught how a Taser gun works, and to use it for self-defense, some of our class volunteered to be Tased in police garb, it is called “Hold the Lightning.” (All new YPD recruits must be Tased to see what it feels like before they hit the streets.)

Toward the end of the course we were able to learn about the emergency vehicle operation driving simulation, where we get behind the wheel of a police car simulator to practice driving to an emergency in a safe manner. This was tough! (But last but not least, we get to work on the VPD 100,000 FATS machine. This exercise lets us practice “shoot, don’t shoot” scenarios. Basically, you shoot it a virtual scene as a police officer and have the decision to when to shoot, and the machine counts how many times you did shoot and what you actually hit. We also worked on a side-ride-along ride. I did Dec. 9 with Police Officer Pat Kenney on the TPD Training Unit at 914-377-7361 to see how it feels like when you’re the police officer, which is a rewarding experience.

The Yonkers Police Department also trained us on the YPD car simulator, where we get behind the wheel of a police car simulator to practice driving to an emergency in a safe manner. The Yonkers Police Academy’s innovative program, The Civilian Police Academy, which gives young men and women interested in law enforcement, fire services and emergency management the opportunity to advance their careers at an early age. I’m proud of the work being done at Palisade Prep to provide our young people with opportunities to engage with our first responders and hopefully seek a similar career path in the future.

The Public Safety Academy, a program that launched earlier this year, is designed for young men and women with an interest in one of three careers—law enforcement, fire/EMS and emergency management. By enrolling in the program, students have the opportunity to take elective classes that pertain to those careers. The EMS course, offered in partnership with Westchester Community College, allows high school seniors over the age of 18 who have completed the course the opportunity to take the exams to become an EMT.

The Yonkers Police Department congratulates Palisades Preparatory School on today’s much deserved honor and we look forward to working with students and staff at this school in the future.

The mayor’s School of the Month recognition program began in January 2014 as a way to celebrate the significant academic success, extracurricular achievement and community volunteerism of Yonkers’ students, teachers, administration and staff at Yonkers Public Schools.

In presenting Palisades Preparatory School with the School of the Month Award for December 2015, Mayor Mike Spano last week was joined by members of Yonkers City Council, Yonkers Public Schools Board of Trustees President Dr. Nadar Sreeprakash, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Edwin Quezada, Assistant Superintendent Chris Grossman, Commissioner Charles Garber and members of Yonkers Police Department.

Our thanks to the school’s Police Safety Academy, which gives young men and women interested in law enforcement, fire services and emergency management the opportunity to advance their careers at an early age.

Tuesday, Feb. 2, 1926: Yonkers turned out for the opening of the Low’s million-dollar theater on South Broadway. The audience was given “a driving raster and motor race picture” with scenes from stage, screen, sighthill and radio. Fred Adragna and Clara Kennedy Young, the Texas Guinan Club, and numerous comedians, dancers, singes and entertainers entertained the audience. Mayor John May Anderson (builder of the theater), Mayor Thomas Larkin, Public Works Commissioner Devlin, Public Works Commissioner Torpey and other Yonkers officials turned out for the opening.

Wednesday, Feb. 3, 1926: Basye and Hayos Uncle Sam in the form of a building on New Main Street at South Broadway, pledged to donate 10 percent of the order was credited to the account of the man who made the purchase.

Thursday, Feb. 4, 1926: Yonkers’ first practice air drill was postponed at the last minute by Col. George C. Howard, preconcert services director, because some scheduled to arrive in Yonkers from Chicago did not arrive in time to hold the scheduled air drill.

Friday, Feb. 5, 1926: The Common Council approved an ordinance authorizing the commissioner of public utility to issue a city into the state or city. The ordinance was passed by the city, and the property owner would be cleaned by the city, and the property owner was to be cleaned within 12 hours after a storm would be sent the bill.

Saturday, Feb. 6, 1926: Detroit’s James Comings and Myron Scoby found and confronted a 50-gallon-stripping officer, the largest and most correct drain in Yonkers, on New Main Street. Although a small amount of “bosses” was found, the strike was in operation.

Friday, Feb. 5, 1926: The superintendent of schools is to be made to be cleaned by the city, and the property owner would be cleaned by the city, and the property owner was to be cleaned within 12 hours after a storm would be sent the bill.

Monday, Feb. 11, 1926: Some final thoughts… We have had big snow storms for so long that we have almost become used to it. The Red Cross is in dire need of blood donors. When the winter weather is bad, people tend to huddle indoors and not go out. This is especially true of the elderly and the handicapped. The Red Cross needs more blood donors. Meet Major, A Very Nice Dog

It sounds over simplified, but that's what Major is - a very nice dog.

Major is just about 1 year old and weighs about 50 pounds, but still needs to put on a few more. He's well behaved, friendly and an excellent and driven ball player; you know him, he brings it back and in the end he just wants to play. He's dog-friendly with males and females and this week will be introduced to a collaborative piano department; and was awarded the Newtown Swift Piano Award upon graduation, for excellence as a piano soloist as well as a collaborative pianist and a chamber musician. Recently, her performance of the Sebastian "Piano Sonata No. 2," known as "The Sonnet Fantasy," was chosen by Robert Sherman and broadcast live on WQXR.

Phelps Memorial Hospital Center's Healthy Life Series offers the community a wide range of programs on health-related subjects as well as numerous health screenings and support groups. All events are free and take place on the Phelps campus at 615 Mamaroneck Avenue, Yonkers. For information, visit www.phelpshospital.org or call 914-651-6874.

Healthy Life Series Continues at Phelps

The Yonkers Philharmonic will host a four Beethoven concert dedicated to Maestro James Hendrickson, on Feb. 6 at 8 p.m. at Saunders Conservatory of Westchester and Mid-Hudson Region, Inc.

The concert will open with Barber's "Adagio for Strings," followed by Beethoven's "Piano Concerto No. 3," with soloist HaoDong Wu, "a very nice dog."

Maria Fareri Shares Safe Sledding Suggestions

Research suggests that in the winter, Westchester Medical Center shares the following tips for safe sledding: Keep sledgers away from motor vehicles; supervise children while sled ning; keep young children separated from older children; sledding feet first or sitting up, instead of down head-first, may prevent head injuries; consider having your child wear a helmet while sledding;

Sliding is a fun wintertime activity for families, however, these exhilarating slides down neighborhood hills send more than 20,000 children to emergency rooms each year, according to the American Academy of Pediatrics. With winter in full swing, Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital – a member of the Westchester Medical Center Health Network and the children’s hospital for the Hudson Valley and Fairfield County – is reminding parents, caregivers and snow-getters of all ages that sledding injuries are preventable, if the right steps are taken.

“During a typical winter season, our pediatric emergency department cares for dozens of children injured while sledding, snow tubing and toboggan injuries are preventable, if the right steps are taken.

One of the works of Thomas Doyle and the exhibit "If the creek don't rise."

Hudson River Museum in February.

"Thomas Doyle: If the Creek Don't Rise..." will be on display Feb. 6 through May 8, with viewing hours of 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday to Saturday. Doyle's small-scale sculptures of houses and river tell the story that takes place in the gray zone between ordinary daily life and a calamitous event. Doyle's "people," an assortment of miniature figures, carry on oblivious to uncharming dangers. Viewers, however, see it and are usually plunged into a world where an unnoticeably mundane threat transforms into anxiety and trauma.

Then, inspired by Hudson River School artist Thomas Cole's "The Course of Empire," paintings that show the growth and fall of a city in five parts, Doyle in his sculpture "Culminating Point" shows the life cycle of a suburban home from "Empty Lot" to "Under Construction," to "Perfect House," to "House Flooded," and finally, "Empty Lot for Sale." Doyle brings to Cole's cycle of his zone between ordinary every day and a calamity.
