Assemblymember Shelley Mayer A Fighter for Yonkers

By Dan Murphy

Assemblymember Shelley Mayer has represented Yonkers in the 96th Assembly District since 2012. In recent elections, including this year, Mayer has run unopposed, with most seeing her lack of competition as a testament to her ability to represent Yonkers in Albany for the good of all, regardless of political party.

A self-described “activist legislator” and “a fierce advocate for Yonkers,” Mayer presented Yonkers’ rising with an impressive list of accomplishments that she has worked on in Albany for the city she has called home for all of her life, which is included at the end of this story.

Number one on the list is the yearly state budget. Mayer is a strong supporter of the budget for the Yonkers Public Schools. Included in the push to fund and get agreement in Albany for additional dollars for YPS this year was the effort to create and pass legislation to rebuild the district.

Mayer led the effort in the Assembly to pass legislation that created the Joint School Construction Board, including changes from the original proposal that came from Mayor Mike Spano. “We took the mayor’s bill and improved it significantly and made it stronger,” she said.

“There is a strong project labor agreement piece to it because I feel strongly about hiring local contractors when possible.

“We also included anti-nepotism clauses and we got agreement after negotiations with the governor’s office, who had to go along and accept this,” continued Mayer. “No other city has ever sought an increase in their capital funding reimbursement for their schools. It is essential for the future of Yonkers to have a strong school system for parents and for people interested in moving to Yonkers.”

In 2017, Mayer and her colleagues from the Yonkers delegation to Albany — Sens. Andrea Stewart-Cousins and Assemblymember Shelley Mayer — endorsed Anthony Scarpino for district attorney.

We Endorse: Anthony Scarpino

For District Attorney

Anthony Scarpino is that type of candidate and will make that type of district attorney for all of Westchester, and we endorse Scarpino for DA on Nov. 8.

Forty years ago in 1976, Anthony Scarpino was elected to the Yonkers Board of Education. That same year, he was elected to the Board of Education for the Yonkers City School District.

In 1979, he was elected to the Board of Education for the city of Yonkers. In 1983, he was elected to the Board of Education for the Yonkers City School District.

In 1987, he ran for the 37th District of the City of Yonkers, was elected and served the District – or lose $39 million in state education aid.

In 1989, the Board of Education passed a resolution in favor of the concept of the city’s 2,000 teachers, according to a lawmaking. One lawmaking deadline for the city of Yonkers, teacher compensation, should not be based on political party, but rather who is fairly and will make that that type of district attorney and will make that that type of district attorney and will make that...
Yonkers Loses a Hero

The City of Yonkers mourns the loss of Yonkers Fire Lt. John Mario Rodriguez, “J-Rod,” a resident of Yonkers, who passed away Oct. 19. He was 53 years old.

He was born in Cuba to the late Mario Rodriguez and Hilda Rodriguez Nardizzi, who survives him. John was the beloved husband of Jo-Ann Finning Rodriguez; to whom he was married to for 26 loving years. He was the loving father of John and James Rodriguez, and dear brother of Hilda Kapeles, Teresa Gover, Ana Calderaro and the entire Yonkers Fire Department. John is also survived by numerous nieces and nephews.

Lt. Rodriguez was a member of the YFD for 16 years, where he most recently had the title of LT TL71. In addition to serving as a firefighter, John was a licensed plumber, working for Performance Plumbing and Heating. He received six letters of commendation and unit citations for his actions serving the people of Yonkers. A funeral was held at Flower Funeral Home, with a Mass at St. John the Baptist.

Lt. Rodriguez was undergoing treatment for 9/11-related cancer and succumbed to that battle. Appointed to the YFD in 2000, and promoted to lieutenant in 2012, he most recently served in Tower Ladder 71. He received six letters of commendation and unit citations for his actions serving the people of Yonkers.

A funeral was held at Flower Funeral Home, with a Mass at St. John the Baptist.

YMA, Palisades Prep & Gorton Romp in HS Football

YMA seniors play their last home game, but their win means that they do play again!

By Phil Foly

Yonkers High School football continued to season last weekend with many great games. If you would like to see a high school championship game, there will be one this Saturday afternoon when the undefeated Gorton Wolves take on Pelham at 2 p.m. at the Saunders H.S. field on Palmer Road in Yonkers. This game will be for the championship of the Hudson River League.

Last Saturday was the first round of the Hudson River League playoffs. In the first game, Pelham defeated Riverside 21-0. In the second game, Gorton defeated Saunders 8-6 in a hard-fought game. (Both games were played at the Saunders H.S. field.)

“I think this was a real emotional game – both sides played their hearts out,” said Coach Dee Demartino. “I really take my hat off to the kids on both sides… They represented the city very well.”

The star of the game for Gorton was Malik Jones who had 130 yards rushing on 21 carries and the winning touchdown. Jayden Lambert also had 86 yards on three carries for Gorton. Jaylen Fields had eight tackles, and Eddie Ortiz and Lambert had five tackles for the defensive unit of Gorton. For Saunders, Joseta Chambers had 189 all-purpose yards in the game, and D.J. Lezinger tallied a TD.

Good luck in the championship game, Gorton!

The Yonkers Montessori Academy defeated Cross–Harman 26-6 in a game played at Yonkers on Saturday afternoon. The YMA boys averaged a last-minute loss out of the play by dominating their opponents for the entire game. The seniors on the team reminded everyone to stay humble and keep working, and came out with a convincing win.

The game took a Vince Lombardi 1950’s approach – run, run and run. Control the clock and your own destiny! As a team, YMA rushed for a total of 124 yards. Stars of the game for YMA were John Davis with 25 carries for 140 yards and three TDs, Phil DiSalva with 90 yards on 11 carries, and Juan (The Fridge) Garcia also had a TD for YMA.

Above all, Coach Ellie Mesoc gives much of the credit for the win to his offensive line. In other action, Palisades Prep defeated Yonkers 25-0 last Saturday. On Friday, Lincoln lost to Nyack 41-0 without the lights in Nyack.

This week’s games are all Saturday, Oct. 29, and they include: Briarcliff/Hamilton at Roosevelt H.S. at 1:30 p.m.; Pawling vs. Yonkers at Lincoln H.S. at 11 a.m.; Yonkers Montessori vs. Nyack at 1:30 p.m.; Pearl River at Palisades Prep at 1:30 p.m.; and Yonkers at Gorton H.S. at 7 p.m.

If you would like to see a high school championship game, you can’t miss this year’s! The seniors on the team reminded everyone to stay humble and keep working, and came out with a convincing win. Good luck in the championship game, Gorton!

Mayor Mike Spano welcomed members of the Polish American community to City Hall recently to celebrate Yonkers’ vibrant Polish-American residents and congratulated the 2016 Westchester County Polish Parade Marshal the recently to celebrate Yonkers’ vibrant Polish-American community to City Hall and gave the mayor a present – a replica of the icon of Our Lady of Czestochowa, which has been associated with Poland for more than 600 years.

Let’s not make believe that Airbnb is something new. People have been renting out their homes and apartments in the short term for years, from New York City to Yonkers and having a local news broadcast on one of the many stations that would pack with three bunkbeds and a bathroom and found out that I would have to shoulder the dollars of the hotel and real estate industry, though the dollars of the hotel industry in the Big Apple.

New York City has problems with antiquated regulations and co-op boards that are not willing to take action when people break the rules. If co-ops don’t want to rent to people participating in Airbnb, they need to put that in their rules and regulations and enforce it uniformly. Everyone complains but none, one is willing to take action.

For a bright billionaire, Donald Trump clearly missed the spot at the presidential debate last week. Moderator Chris Wallace gave him the last word. He should have recited all the controversies surrounding Hillary, as well as economic and foreign relations problems facing our country and said, “If you are happy with the way this country is going, vote for my opponent. If you are not satisfied with the way you were eight years ago, vote for me.”

Asking Trump if he would accept the results of the election is a no-brainer. What does that mean? If Trump feels there is fraud he has every right to go to court. I don’t see his supporters storming the White House. In this Democracy we have always passed power from Republicans to Democrats seamlessly. I don’t think that is going to change. In a week and a half it will be all over! May the best woman or man win!

Shaking at New York I remember sitting at the offices of the North Yonkers Preservation and Development Corporation in 1984 discussing the wiring of Yonkers for cable television and the hope for expansion of local news on one of the many stations that would soon grace our homes. Up to that point, the local news was filmed by high school students at a studio at the Preservation and Development Corporation and put on a public access channel on cable television.

One of those student broadcasting local news was Mary Calvi. Yes, that Mary Calvin, WCBS star and wife of our mayor. We talked about introducing public access television to Yonkers and having a local news broadcast on one of the many stations that would grace our homes. Up to that point, the local news was filmed by high school students at a studio at the Preservation and Development Corporation and put on a public access channel on cable television.

Engel Blasts Meager Social Security Increase

Congressman Eliot Engel, lead sponsor of the Guaranteed 3 Percent COLA for Seniors Act, recently responded to the Social Security Administration’s announcement that seniors’ Social Security benefits would increase just 0.3 percent in 2017. It’s a bump of about $5 per month for the average senior citizen.

“This year’s dismally modest cost-of-living increase would be laughable if it weren’t so upsetting to see how our senior citizens are being ‘robbed’,” said Engel. “COLAs are vital to our seniors, who rely on this modest increase to make ends meet. Seniors’ Social Security benefits have increased more than 1 percent since 2011. These paltry increases fail to account for the real costs seniors face and could force many to forgo crucial expenses, like medication or a heart-breaking choice no senior should be forced to make.”

What makes this problem all the more upsetting is the fact that Engel’s bill was introduced to the House in January. The bill would increase Social Security benefits by 3 percent every year, even if the CPI-E COLA falls below this amount. Engel recently introduced several bills to ensure that seniors receive a minimum 3 percent COLA every year, even if the CPI-E COLA falls below this amount. Engel praised the House and Senate for passing his bills just before the end of session. “This year’s dismally modest increase in Social Security will further erode the purchasing power of our seniors, already trying to get by on meager Social Security benefits,” he said. “Our nation’s seniors should receive a bump in their Social Security to help combat the increase in the cost of living, which has increased more than 1.7 percent since 2012.”

Engel was the lead sponsor of the 2016 Social Security Cola Act, which calls for a 3 percent increase in Social Security benefits each year.

“We are lucky to have had this generous support from our good neighbors every year since the barge came to Yonkers in 2006,” said Director Bob Walters.

The Science Barge, owned by Groundwork Hudson Valley, recently received new solar panels and a new Iron Edison battery bank, doubling its capacity to produce and save energy to power its greenhouse growing systems. With this upgraded solar system and its wind turbine and rainwater catchment system, the barge can operate entirely independent of the public.

“Thanks, Domino, for backing the Science Barge from the time we brought it to the Yonkers waterfront until today,” said Groundwork Hudson Valley’s Acting Executive Director Ann-Marie Mitroff, after a checking a check for $11,000 from Matt Shue, the barge’s runway manager.

Domino has been donating sugar along the banks of the Hudson River since 1921, and the Domino facility – located just two blocks south of the Science Barge – is one of three major Domino refineries in the U.S. The other two are in Baltimore, Maryland and Gulfport, Louisiana.

“Lightening is an active female. She is a small black and white mixed-breed dog about 2 years old and 45 pounds. She is another son of the Basset Hound, and no one ever owned her before. Lighty is a smart dog who knows her basic commands, walks nicely on a leash and loves children. She has met several children younger than 5, and although they didn’t hate her, she did not want the children to sneak up on her.

Lucy loves to play fetch and is an active family dog. She is a fan of the kitties, but she does not like other dogs – especially other big dogs – and will not play with them. She would make a good family companion. She is a good athlete and would be good on an agility course, but she sounds like both the wind and rain can start a ball or frisbee mid-air with almost no effort.

Visit Lucy every Tuesday at 4 p.m. daily at Yonkers Animal Shelter, or call 201-981-3215 for more information.

Oct. 31, 1912: Comet Konkobaek presented a life-size bust of George Washington to Mayor Lemon of the City of Yonkers. Created by the late Wilson MacDonald, it was a replica of Houdon’s life mask of Washington, molded directly from Washington’s face in 1783. MacDonald made many castings of this bust, numbered them, and wrote on them, “This is a mathematical reduction of the original Life Mask Bust of Washington, cast by Wilson MacDonald, Copyright 1949, The Money-Brandt Bronce Co., NY 1949.

Nov. 1, 1942: City Manager William Walsh challenged the right of Westchester County to sell land in the Goosey Spans watered to the Yonkers Electric Light and Power Company for its high-tension power lines.

Nov. 2, 1920: Yonkers resident and transatlantic pilot Captain Leon Yancey led a fleet of planes to Yonkers from Roosevelt Field to support Mayor John Fogarty’s election campaign. Yancey and his wife, the former Gradele Cirelov, lived on Cornell Avenue.

Nov. 3, 1934: Yonkers Republican pledges a torchlight procession as part of the celebration of the upcoming presidential election night. An estimated 4,500 people took part in the parade.

Nov. 3, 1953: Police Chief Edward Quirk put on a dressing gown and carried a sword under the “Tunich March,” to pay his respects to Yonkers, who refused the king’s appeal for cavalry. MacSwiney died in London’s Devizes Prison three days without food.

Nov. 4, 1912: The American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society gave a room in the Yonkers Corinthian Yacht Club to its new executive secretary. The room was placed under the house at low tide, once the tide turned, the rising water filled the house with the color of its old foundation at the foot of York Street. The house and pavement were moved to the new spot and heated immediately. The following tide lowered the house until it rested on its new base.

Nov. 5, 1947: Martin and Chauncey Working Company presented the title to the Yonkers Corinthian Yacht Club to its new location at 1917 River Road. The houses were placed under the house at low tide; once the tide turned, the rising water filled the house with the color of its old foundation at the foot of York Street. The house and pavement were moved to the new spot and heated immediately. The following tide lowered the house until it rested on its new base.

Two Yonkersites Play Key Role at Untermyer Gardens

Andrew Schuyler, right, and Marco Polo Stufano are making Untermyer Gardens a better place.

Two Yonkers residents have become an important part of the nationally known team of gardeners at Untermyer Gardens, which is quickly becoming a national attraction thanks to a private-public partnership between the Untermyer Gardens Conservancy and the City of Yonkers.

Since its establishment in 2011, the conservancy has raised more than $2.5 million to fund capital and horticultural improvements, plus funding for six gardens.

Andrew Schuyler is a fourth-generation Yonkrite. He attended PEARLS before graduating from Archbishop Stepinac High School. After graduating from college, he worked briefly in 2011 at Untermyer Gardens, which confirmed that horticulture was his passion. He then won an internship to work at the Golden Gate National Park in San Francisco.

Marco Polo Stufano, founding director of horticulture at Wave Hill and horticultural advisor at Untermyer Gardens, recommended Schuyler for the Professional Gardeners Training Program at Longwood Gardens in Pennsylvania, the leading school of horticulture in the country.

SLC Hosts ‘Day in the Life Of the Hudson’ Event

Sarah Lawrence’s Center for River Urban at the Beekman recently held “Day in the Life of the Hudson” event which connects thousands of students across New York to collecting scientific data on one day. On Oct. 20, students and teachers from St. Agnes School in Brooklyn and graduate students in Sarah Lawrence College’s Art of Teaching program simultaneously collected scientific data on the river with students and teachers at more than 80 sites from New York City to Albany.

The event, held as part of the River’s Gateway project, is a living laboratory that brings the Hudson to life for children across the state, said the program’s managing director, Bill Geller for the Professional Gardeners Training Program.

“Day in the Life of the Hudson” is sponsored by the Department of Environmental Conservation’s Hudson River Environmental Conservation’s Hudson River Estuary Program in partnership with the Hudson River Natural Environment Research Reserve, and the Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory of Columbia University.

A list of participating schools, site locations and more information can also be found on the website at www.scvny.org/ed/events/47285.html.

'Safe Sleep' Campaign Aims To Prevent Infant Death

New York-Post Advocates Program has placed acclaim funding from the New York-Post to a breast cancer screening program.

As one of 37 centers in New York State with demonstrated excellence in breast cancer care, the New York-Post Advocates Program is dedicated to improving outcomes for breast cancer patients. The program offers comprehensive screening, diagnostic, and treatment services to women of all ages. It is committed to providing high-quality care and resources to help women make informed decisions about their health.

The goal of the program is to reach multiple patient populations, providing education and prevention strategies for women of all ages. The program aims to increase awareness of breast cancer screening and early detection, and to connect women with the resources they need to take action.

“Breast cancer is the most common type of cancer among women. Our goal is to reach multiple patient populations, providing education and prevention strategies for women of all ages,” said DSS Commissioner Kevin McGuire. “But we also need to ensure that women have access to the latest information and resources to help them make informed decisions about their health.”

The program will be implemented through a multi-faceted approach, including

- Community outreach
- Health education
- Screening services
- Referrals to screening centers

The program will work closely with the NYS Cancer Services Program to ensure that women have access to the latest information and resources to help them make informed decisions about their health.

A U.S. horse won the International Trot at Yonkers Raceway last week, leading from start to finish by a comfortable margin of five lengths over the second-place finisher, Flanagan Memory of Canada, thanks to a perfect ride from Ake Svanstedt. The $1 million purse attracted horses from seven countries, and was the second year of a renewable International Trot, brought back to life for the 2016 season after a seven-year hiatus.

Yonkers Veterans Welcomed at Health Fair

Veteran Euler Bill Soto with Dr. Sherman, Wilson Terrero and Wilto Brusseau.

The city’s war memorial on South Broadway was recently vandalized.

Members of the Yonkers Veteran Administration Medical Group welcomed veterans to the event, and provided care and assistance in a variety of ways. If you know of a veteran who needs assistance, contact the medical group at 914-375-8055.

In a related story, the Yonkers Veterans Memorial, located on South Broadway downtown, was recently vandalized. A police investigation resulted in the arrest of two persons for third-degree criminal mischief. The two persons arrested were homeless and temporary residents of the Sharing Community Shelter; they are not veterans. “It is important that we respect the honor and service of those who have served our country, most notably the veterans who never came home,” said Korean War veteran Mike Bennett. “That includes respecting the monuments that honor their service and where we stand and salute and remember on national holidays honoring their service.”
