WWII Veterans Welcome To City of Yonkers

WWII veterans are honored at City Hall by Mayor Mike Spano, Veterans Affairs Director Lou Navarro, Assembly member Shelley Mayer, City Court Judge Ed Gaffney and City Council member Constance Pirozzi Isaac and Mike Breen.

Yonkers Mayor Mike Spano welcomed a group of World War II veterans to City Hall last week to present distinguished service medals and certificates honoring their service and sacrifice.

The group participated in the Hudson Valley Honor Flight, an all-expenses-paid, day-long trip to the WWII memorial in Washington, D.C., which departed from Westchester County Airport on Nov. 7. The event occurs multiple times a year out of Stewart International and Westchester County airports.

Joining Spano in honoring the members of “America’s Greatest Generation” were Yonkers Veterans Affairs Director Lou Navarro, Assembly member Shelley Mayer, City Court Judge and veteran Ed Gaffney, and Councilmembers Constance Pirozzi Isaac and Mike Breen.

Yonkers’ salute to its veterans, which continues this week with a Veterans’ Day parade and tribute, included a ceremony at the Coyne Park Senior Center, where veterans in attendance were thanked for their service.

Coyne Park Senior Center President Nick Manattone gave remarks and introduced the event emcees, AMVETS Raon Post Commander Sam Rini.

Bob Bisciotti sang “God Bless America,” which was followed by the MIA ceremony of an empty table, left for those who never made it back home. Members of the Lincoln High School ROTC program assisted in the ceremony.

An original poem was read by one of the seniors, Evolyce, and Tony Milani explained why the American Flag is folded 13 times during funeral services for veterans. Parks Commissioner Yvette Hartsfield and Recreation Supervisor Jose Alvarado also gave remarks.

“TAPS” was played and all the veterans were given gift bags made up by the members of the Coyne Park Senior Center.

Yonkers Police Dept. Unions Boycott Filmmaker Tarantino

Three weeks ago, New York City police officer Randolph Holder was killed on the job while chasing a gunman during a shootout between two rival gangs.

Two weeks ago, Hollywood film director Quentin Tarantino joined an anti-war rally in Washington Square Park, in NYC, in which he stated, referring to the police: “When I see murderers, I do not stand by… I have to call a murder out next month. A woman titled “The Hateful Eight” has reached in Tarantino attempting to explain his comments on cable news programs.”

A candlelight vigil against domestic violence was recently held outside City Hall, sponsored by Councilmember Corazon Pineda-Issac, fifth from left. She was joined by Councilmembers Michael Sabatino, John Larin and Dennis Shepherd.

Yonkers City Council member Corazon Pineda-Issac sponsored “Shine the Light on Domestic Violence,” the 15th annual Domestic Violence Awareness Month candlelight vigil, Oct. 27 at City Hall. It was attended by Mayor Mike Spano, several Yonkers City Council members, My Sister’s Place, Victim’s Assistance Services of Westchester Community Opportunity Program Inc., Hope’s Door, Peace Women’s Justice Center and other community partners.

The Rev. Cheryl Jenkins of Interfaith Church led the opening prayer.

The vigil is an event meant to highlight the importance of raising awareness to domestic violence, and how it affects the entire community.

Candlelight Vigil Sheds Light on Domestic Violence

By Robert Kalfus

“Vikings resident, Leibel Agar married Anita Hochman on Sunday, Nov. 8, at the Lincoln Park Jewish Center in a joyous ceremony attended by more than 100 guests and both their families. Mr. Agar, 23, was born on Long Island and grew up in Stuart Island and Albany. He has a Master’s degree in History and Education, and is currently the chief insurance analyst at Alpine Home Health Care. He has been the synagogue’s Torah reader for eight years and also teaches a first class in Biblical history every Shabbat afternoon.

Mrs. Agar was born and raised in the Sheepshead Bay section of Brooklyn. She plans to move to the hospital two years later when she moved to the hospital. The ceremony ended with a loud “pop” when the groom crushed a wineglass underfoot.

A jubilant procession accompanied the couple to the “shining the light” to end domestic violence. The vigil was marriage ceremony at the synagogue’s main sanctuary. The ceremony ended with a loud “pop” when the groom crushed a wineglass underfoot.

Con Edison Grant Funds STEM Day Out at HRM

Con Edison and the Hudson River Museum recently partnered to advance the science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) curriculum for Yonkers students. Con Edison STEM Day Oct. 7 is a new program at the Hudson River Museum for middle school students, made possible by a $25,000 grant from Con Edison.

The Hudson River Museum is the only Waxtheresque location awarded a Con Edison grant, which has enabled students from three Title I public schools in Yonkers – Palisade Prep and Cross Hill Academy – to join science-themed educational activities at the museum.

“Students see and touch exhibits they don’t have in their classrooms,” said Hilary Ayala, Cross Hill Academy – to join science-themed technology, engineering and math curriculum for recent years, $25,000 grant from Con Edison.

Yonkers students. Con Edison STEM Day Out featuring Sal Chiarelli, will take place Sunday, Oct. 11 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Saw Mill River Road, as normal.

Students learn science, technology, engineering and math at the Hudson River Museum.

Drop Off Bulk Items During Yonkers Recycles Day

Yonkers Mayor Mike Spano and Yonkers Department of Public Works last week anounced that “Yonkers Recycles Day” will take place Saturday, Nov. 14 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at three locations throughout the city.

On Yonkers Recycles Day, residents will be able to drop off Styrofoam and a wide variety of electronic devices including televisions, DVD players, cell phones, computers and small appliances. The Yonkers Animal Shelter has many pets available for adoption. One is Rudy, a 2- to 3-year-old Bully breed who wound up at the shelter as a stray dog about a month ago. He weighs about 25 pounds and has a beautiful reddish coat with white on his chest.

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to your post-Election Day column which highlights the recent elections for mayor and public officers in the Yonkers Third District City Council. Your article includes a candid interview with the potential candidates for the Yonkers Third District City Council who share their visions for the town, including issues such as small-scale farming. I have been a long-time resident of Yonkers and feel strongly about the need for change in our city's government.

I would like to comment on your article regarding small-scale farming. As a former candidate for the Third District City Council, I am well aware of the challenges faced by small-scale farmers in Yonkers. The city's infrastructure and zoning laws have been a significant barrier to the growth of small-scale farming in the area. I believe that by implementing policies that support small-scale farmers, we can not only improve our local food system but also create jobs and support the local economy.

I urge you to consider the impact of your article on future candidates for the Third District City Council. It is important that we as a community work together to create a more inclusive and sustainable future for Yonkers.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

The Myers Dominating Both Political Parties

By Frank Veracruz Jr.
The 2016 campaign is dominated by myths promoted by both Democrats and Republicans. Democrats continue to claim they are a middle-class party, while Republicans blame their poor performance on the failure of the Obama administration. The truth lies somewhere in between. The middle class and those sympathetic to the policies of the incumbent Democratic president are at odds with many liberal and moderate Republicans. Those who support the status quo, their campaigns are underfunded and lack significant financial resources. If a Democratic candidate wins, the next election is much closer to a third-party contest. The Myers vote is split in half, with 15% of them voting for the incumbent and 75% of them voting for the incumbent. The remaining 10% will be apportioned to the rest of the candidates.

Purchasing a Co-Op

By James Hye, Esq.
In many co-ops, areas are protected by a gauranteed living agreement and a rental income guarantee. First-time homebuyers and seconnd-time buyers often purchase in co-ops, making them less expensive than homes and the management and maintenance of the co-ops are easier because of a homeowner-owned association. Co-ops also offer homeowners the option of a tax insurance policy, which will usually reimburse the cost of heat, water, and energy. These co-ops often have flexible financial terms, which makes them an attractive option for first-time homebuyers. The co-op’s status on any given date is often determined by the market price of the unit, which can vary widely from one co-op to another. The co-op is financially solvent, and if the rules of the co-op are acceptable to the buyer, the purchase can be made.

What is a Co-Op?

A co-op is a community of homeowners often called a “co-op.” It is a business entity that owns real propertiy, which is sold to shareholders or members. The homeowner pays for the co-op by purchasing a share in the co-op, which is the shareholder’s equity in the co-op. The shareholder receives a portion of the income from the co-op, which is the profit from the sale of the co-op. The co-op is owned by a shareholder and must comply with the co-op’s rules in order to be a member.

What Are Co-Op Rules Must Be Followed?

The Condominium Association is responsible for following the by-laws, rules and regulations provided by the board of directors. These rules and regulations provide the framework for how the co-op is managed and governed. The Condominium Association is made up of shareholders who own shares in the co-op. The Condominium Association operates the co-op, upon which everyone living in the co-op. The Condominium Association is responsible for the common areas and subsurface.

While the co-op has control over the common areas and the exterior of the buildings, the shareholders are responsible for the interior of the buildings. The shareholders are responsible for the maintenance and repair of their units.

ShopRite Supermarkets, Inc., announced today the launch of its 2015 campaign to raise funds to benefit Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital. Through Nov. 22, ShopRite stores throughout Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Orange, Sullivan and Ulster counties will collect donations at checkout and host in-store activities and events to support the hospital’s mission to provide the best in advanced pediatric care to the region’s most seriously ill and injured children.

For the second year, ShopRite has partnered with Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital, a member of the Westchester Medical Center Health Network, to support the hospital’s commitment to provide care to more than 30,000 critically ill infants and children each year, including those with open heart surgery, burn surgery, cancer treatment, trauma and brain care, organ transplants and more.

“We are honored to stand beside Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital and its efforts, which have a tremendous impact on so many children and families in the communities our stores serve,” said Tom Urtz, vice president of operations. “The hard work and creativity of the ShopRite stores, executive team and the dedicated customers who choose to support ShopRite, from its enthusiastic assistance at checkout, will result in thousands of dollars in aid for local children in need.”

“Astorino rejects the tentative agreement approved by the board of CSEA and HUDC labor leaders covers Jan. 1, 2012 through Aug. 31, 2015 and calls for general wage increases for 300 CSEA members totaling 7 percent for the first four years, in addition to longevity payments. In the final two years, employees would get wage increases of $265 per year, as well as lump sum payments of $3,000 per year.”

In contrast, the fact-finder involved in the negotiations with the county, CSEA recommends wage freezes for the years 2012 and 2013, with 2 percent wage increases for 2014 and 2015, along with additional concessions to help offset some of the costs of the proposed agreement.

Lack of “meaningful” future health care contributions was the budget barrier that led to the decision by Astorino. Since coming into office, Astorino has moved to stabilize health care contributions for seven of the county’s eight unions, the only exception being CSEA. The lowest contribution paid for 2015 is paid by the Teachers, which is 12.5 percent of the health insurance premium. The average contribution across all seven of the contributing unions is about 15 percent of the premiums for current and new employees, and most new hires pay at least as much toward health care costs as their previous employer.

The tentative agreement for CSEA members at WCC will see health care contributions at 18 percent for the current school year, 8 percent for the next school year, and 10 percent for the year following that. For the past three years, Astorino submitted operating and capital budgets for the county that did not raise tuition rates. For the current school year, the county sponsor contribution was $29.15 million, an increase of $300,000 from the prior year, 2 percent.

While I continue to appreciate the services provided by CSEA members at Westchester Community College and your administration in interest in reaching an agreement, the proposal in its current form is unacceptable for county residents, unfair to other county employees and almost certainly guarantees the need to raise tuition rates for students. Astrina wrote in a letter to Dr. Richard Miller, president of WCC, for these reasons, I am rejecting this proposal and urge the parties to return to the bargaining table in order to negotiate a contract that is fair to all county employees and stakeholders.

“Yonkers Police Department’s two unions - the Yonkers Police Benevolent Association and the Yonkers Police Officers Association - are probably the two most significant bargaining units in the City of Yonkers,” said Tom Phelan, President of the Yonkers Police Benevolent Association.

This year YoFi Fest showcased more films and had a greater audience than ever before. The film festival’s long weekend began Thursday evening with a raucous pastrami contest and screening of “Deli Man.” Friday’s elegant carpet reception, screening and after-party brought together filmmaker and film fans for a full evening of viewing and talking about movies, while enjoying food and drink courtesy of some incredible Yonkers businesses.

The mornings included plenty of family fun, then, during the rest of the day, participants screened more than 100 short, feature and documentary films, including “Done in Yonkers,” which showcased films made by Yonkers students and/or shot in Yonkers.

YoFi Fest’s popular “mini film school” featured nine workshops with industry professionals on topics including screenwriting, storyboarding and breaking into the industry. The after-party Saturday night gave all an opportunity to eat, drink, dance and sing karaoke, while the closing night party was a chance to wind down after a fun-filled weekend.

A Yonkers Thanksgiving celebration will take place Monday, Nov. 16 at 7 p.m. at the Grinton I. Will Library, 1500 Central Park Ave., Yonkers. This event replaces the Yonkers Interfaith Thanksgiving service that has taken place for the last seven years. This change in name reflects that the event is not limited to faith-based organizations.

This year the event also takes place in the Grinton I. Will Library, thanks to the generosity of the Yonkers Public Library, which is a sponsor of the event.

The ceremony will reflect the diversity of the Yonkers community and will be led by participants from public office, houses of worship, businesses and other organizations. In addition to the reading of the original national proclamation of Thanksgiving, the program will include music, youth presentations, prayers and readings. It will also draw attention to some of the many organizations that provide hunger assistance in the City of Yonkers.

The theme of the service is “With Grateful Hearts,” and there will be a collection for those who are food-insecure. The proceeds will go to the Sharing Community, which serves dinner to hundreds of people on both Thanksgiving and Christmas Day each year in the city.

Many organizations are sponsoring the celebration, including: The Academy for Jewish Religion, the African-American Advisory Board, the Andalusia School, Assemblymember Shelley Mayer, the Asbury Methodist Church, Bronx-More Park Presbyterian Church, Councilman Christopher Johnson, Councilwoman Michaela Sahnena, the Family Service Society of Yonkers, Groundwork Hudson Valley, the Islamic Community Center of Mid-Westchester, JKY-Westchester Community Partners, the LGBTQ Advisory Board, Mayor Michael Spano, the Muslim-American Advisory Council of Yonkers; also Nepperhan Community Center, State Sen. Andrea Stewart-Cousins, St. John’s Episcopal Church in Getty Square and Tuckahoe, St. John’s Riverside Hospital and its Spiritual Care Department, St. Mary’s Eastern Orthodox Church, attorney Nader Sayegh, The Sisters of Charity, Yonkers Boy Scouts Troop 3, Yonkers Downtown BID, the Yonkers Public Library, Yonkers Wellness Center, Youth Giving Back, Westchester Jewish Community Services-Senior Programs and Westchester Jewish Council.
