Surrounded by a large crowd of family, friends and supporters from the community and the art world, artist Vinnie Bagwell gave the public a preview of the sculptures that will inhabit the Enslaved Africans Rain Garden upon its completion in 2019. The opening event was held at the Riverfront Library, where the sculptures will be on display.

The opening began with interpretive drumming by Leonard Epps, followed by a mournful saxophone solo by Steve Carrington. Vinnie welcomed guests and spoke of her project and the need to give a voice to the many souls that were lost in the Middle Passage and the brutal life many of the survivors faced once they were deposited in the Caribbean and the colonies of North America.

She displayed a pair of shackles used by slavers to bind their captives.

Ty Gray-El was given the challenge of creating back stories for “I’Satta” and “Themba.” The guests were attentive and enthralled by the tales he wove of how each was stolen away from their homeland, the horrors of the slave ships, and then seeing each other again on the lands owned by the Philipse family.

What is Wrong With The Building Department?

Dear Editor:

Why does it take so long to get a building permit? I have presented the building department in Yonkers for more than 20 years. It has recently become ridiculous to have to wait three months to get a permit. What has changed? any conflicts of interest?

- Constant review plans, multiple revisions required.
- Misplaced files, an X or my architect
- Sit with the plan examiner who is too busy, in delays issuing permits etc.

For those of us who care our own properties and see taxpayers, it is unacceptable. Municipal agency issue permits within four weeks. Yonkers takes two weeks to lay the application into the system. The main issue is the constant revisions and required revisions. But why? What has changed? What is the common denominator? I have been told by the Architect, David Barbii, that the building department is the problem. But it never used to be that way.

Three months at a minimum to get a permit is ridiculous.
- Regional and National standards.
- A review of my recent permits reveals a common factor. The plan examiner, David Barbii, has done most of my plan review. If you Google him, "David Barbii," he an architect with offices in Tarrytown.

I would like to know where the City of Yonkers has created or replaced new industrial property on the waterfront to make room for apartments. Yonkers has created a single foot of industrial-zoned property. The City Planning Commission has taken away acres of industrial land on the waterfront to make room for apartments. Where has the city created, or replaced, new industrial property in Yonkers for more than 20 years and have yet to see one boiler inspection certificate. What does the attorney general say about the legalities of this?

However, there is a $200 fine if the form gets misplaced, required, misplaced files, no time for me or my architect – who are his competition – a hard

Holiday Happenings In Yonkers

The Yonkers Philharmonic continues its 2017-18 season with a free “Mozart for the Holidays” concert Sunday, Dec. 10 at 3 p.m. at the Yonkers Public Library, Will Library Branch, 1500 Central Park Ave. Admission is free, no tickets are required, and seating will be in the 525-seat auditorium at the library. Join the Yonkers Philharmonic as it presents an afternoon featuring the best of Broadway, classics, and contemporary hits. "An Afternoon of Classics" featuring David Barbii, Architect, PC, organizes in the architectural services business in Yonkers and has operating for eight years.

The company is engaged to supervise the design and construction of a new office building in Yonkers at a yearly salary of $105,000. Are the profits getting their money’s worth? It is impossible to run a full-time business if you are employed from Monday to Friday at City Hall, from 9:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. That would explain why the plan examiner wears a工作任务.

If it’s not enough, he intentionally gives the architect – also on the competition – a hard time. The City Planning Commission, then does the plan review. No revisions required.

Conflicts of interest are obvious. Are the city missing any of their money’s worth, or just aggravation?

This letter was also sent to Inspector General General Barbuti-McCoy.

Blake, CEO of the Gander Group, a California-based toy company, has donated 100 toys to Catholic Charities of Westchester. The toys were delivered through the company’s services to transport all of the wrapped toys to Catholic Charities’ headquarters.

Another annual key contributor to the effort this year is the Family Service Society of Yonkers. The society is the provider of the JCY Barnes and Noble Holiday Book Fair. The JCY Barnes and Noble Book Fair will be held Dec. 8 and 9, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., and will include appearances by children’s authors/illustrators of “Max and Ruby” (Rosemary Wells), “Cloudy With a Chance of Meatballs” (Ron Barrett), The “Biscuit Books” (Dori Hillel), “Mighty Mouse” (J.M. Dore), “The Lash” (Gary Pretlow, Yonkers City Council President), and “Max and Ruby: The Movie” (Kari Wunnicke, director). The fair will also feature children’s authors and illustrators in various genres and age groups. The fair is sponsored by the Family Service Society of Yonkers.

The book fair will also feature children’s craft activities and free gift wrapping. A percentage of sales will be donated to JCY programs when customers mention a.JCY purchase for making a purchase. For those unable to attend the event, online purchases made from Dec. 9 through Dec. 11 will also benefit the JCY-Westchester Community Partners campaign when the ID #12247428 is entered upon checkout.

Individuals and businesses are also invited to become a “Transform a Child’s Life” sponsor, and will be promoted on the JCY website, on social media, and at the Barnes and Noble Book Fair.

“The spirit of giving/Westchester inspire to give back is embodied by our members and our financial supporters,” said Jane L. Lubin, president, senior director of JCY-Westchester Community Partners. “We would like to acknowledge them and thank them for their generosity, without which we would not be able to provide year-round critical literacy support to the children of Westchester County.”

JCY-Westchester Community Partners bridges the giving gap with one-on-one attention from in-litency mentors, and provides underequipped children with extra support after school through its in-school program. JCY-Westchester Community Partners is a division of the Community Service Family of Yonkers.

On This Day in Yonkers History...

By Mary Hay

President Emerita, Yonkers Historical Society

Monday, Nov. 20

Nov. 25, 1869: The Firemen’s Tournament was held in the City of New York. The tournament was a series of contests in which firemen competed against one another in a variety of events, such as the “Fireman’s Dash” and the “Fireman’s Race.”

Nov. 23, 1927: Deputy Tax Commissioner John Hannon unearthed a little-remembered decision from a Civil Service test. McCrudden went to court about to kill his wife with an axe. After barging into the home, he was found by his week’s supply of firewood in their backyard.

Nov. 20, 1934: Careful investigation by the late W.T. Grant Company’s director of Aisling Irish Community Services revealed the importance of a Civil Service test. McCrudden went to court about to kill his wife with an axe. After barging into the home, he was found by his week’s supply of firewood in their backyard.

Nov. 24, 1918: Officials from the Westchester County Committee of the State Charity Organization Society held a meeting in the Town of Greenburgh. The city quickly started the Yonkers fire department and paid the bill.

Thursday, Nov. 23

Nov. 23, 1915: James McCrudden was appointed Dr. Sue Radcliffe as Yonkers’ Examiner of Mental Patients. Dr. Radcliffe was a pioneer in the field of mental health and is considered one of the most influential figures in the history of mental health care.

Nov. 29, 1925: Governor Alfred E. Smith signed the “Camping Ordinance,” which allowed people to camp in the City of New York. The ordinance was supported by the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation.

McGoey predicted a “no” vote on Con-Con bonds and in Westchester, the vote was 83 percent “no” to 19 percent “yes.” And as McGoey predicted, most of the 81 percent who voted “no” also voted Democrat, defeating Latimer and in Yonkers. Mike Khader as City Council president.

The Con-Con vote was instrumental for unions, where we educated and mobilized our members, and 70 to 70 percent of our members came out and voted,” said McGoey. “Every day I had Con-Con signs out to remind members how important that vote was, and if all of us from union families came out and voted ‘no,’ then you know it would pass. And most unions understood Latimer for county executive and Mike Khader for council president in Yonkers. I think it was the tremendous turnout in both races that made the difference.”

Khader defeated incumbent Council President Liam McLaughlin 54 to 46 percent.

McGoey and Khader won, in part, due to the support from unions in Yonkers. “Most unions, but especially the construction trades in Yonkers came out for Khader and against Liam,” he said.

“We do have many development projects in Yonkers. I am a union laborer and in Yonkers, we have two 300-unit electrician and mason construction unions who are unhappy while development projects rise up all over the city. Liam was out partying the people because of that. It’s also interesting to note that outside of Yonkers, in Westchester county, most development projects rise up with union labor but not in Yonkers. 19 years for 55 years and I will consider him a friend. Mike Spano the same. I have nothing bad to say about either of them, but their policies aren’t appreciated by the union. It’s because of their policies, when 40 percent of electricians are out of work, that hurts families. It doesn’t come down to my relationship between Liam or the mayor, they are both fine people, it comes down to economies for union members.”

“Not every Republican is bad, and not every Democrat is bad. It depends on what they support. It doesn’t come down to my relationship between a Republican or a Democrat.”

The problem for Liam was that he didn’t get his message out. “Unfortunately, we can’t make a living wage with benefits. These are not the bad things.”

Many of these children have never enjoyed a bedtime story. Some of the children are living with their families below the poverty level, in desperate need of food, clothing and shelter. They are abused or neglected.

These two simple gifts of pajamas and books are all that bring hope to these unfortunate children.

“Is it the administration’s or stand up today, we say are union men and you have to be a union man if you want to build on our waterfront.” Liam matched the union vote, because despite the Democratic endorsement in the city, you can’t win a Republican without union support. Mike Spano became a Democrat for the same reason.

McGoey added that McLaughlin remained popular on the east side of the city and in his old fourth Congressional District. “Not every Republican loves Liam. Manyatholic noisy. Some of the children are actually in Head Start or are in foster care, youth of incarcerated parents, have ever received.

Most of these children have never enjoyed the simple comfort of having a parent tuck them in at bedtime with warm, clean pajamas and a bedtime story.
