Yonkers Politics: New Names & Old Faces for Council, Mayor

By Dan Murphy

The decision by democratic leaders in Albany to move up the state political calendar has created a dynamic in which some names want to run for office to decide now, resulting in a few decisions by some familiar names not to run for re-election or to get back into politics, and some new names seem to be readying a race for City Council and mayor in 2019.

In the race for Yonkers mayor, Mayor Mike Spano has not formally announced, but one Yonkers political insider told us, “If he doesn’t run for mayor, I’ll jump off the Mario Cuomo Bridge.” Spano, a democrat, could face opposition from a progressive democrat who could have the support of the indivisible Yonkers group.

Latimer & West. Respond to No New Natural Gas Lines Edict

By Dan Murphy

June 25, 2023

The Yonkers Press

Westchester County Executive George Latimer held a press conference on Monday to announce his administration’s decision to ban new natural gas lines in the county. This decision, he said, is in response to the climate crisis and the urgent need to transition away from fossil fuels.

"We are taking a bold step to address the climate crisis and reduce our greenhouse gas emissions," Latimer said. "This is not an easy decision, but it is a necessary one for the future of our county and our planet."

The ban, which will go into effect immediately, will apply to new natural gas lines in all areas of the county, including those planned for development. The decision was made after extensive consultation with stakeholders, including environmental groups, residents, and local municipalities.

Latimer noted that the decision was made in consultation with Con Edison and other utility companies.

"We have worked closely with Con Edison and other energy providers to ensure that this decision is implemented in a way that minimizes disruptions for residents and businesses," Latimer said.

The decision also includes provisions for existing natural gas lines to be retrofitted or replaced with more efficient and sustainable options.

"We will continue to work with our partners to ensure that this transition is done safely and efficiently," Latimer said.

The decision was met with mixed reactions from residents and stakeholders.

"I think this is a necessary step to combat climate change," said John Smith, a resident of Yonkers. "But I'm concerned about the impact on our energy infrastructure and the cost to consumers."

"I think it's a good decision," said Sarah Johnson, a local business owner. "It's time for us to transition away from fossil fuels and toward more sustainable energy sources."

Latimer concluded by urging all residents and stakeholders to work together to implement this decision in a way that is fair and equitable for everyone.

"This is a difficult decision, but it is for the greater good of our county," Latimer said.

Yonkers police recently made an arrest in a fatal stabbing in Hastings-On-Hudson. On Feb. 1 at about 10:40 p.m., members of the Yonkers Police Department responded to an apartment at 40 Caryl Ave. for a report of a male with a stab wound. Upon arrival, officers discovered a 41-year-old resident of Yonkers with a life-threatening puncture wound to his neck. Officers immediately rendered aid and the victim was brought to an area hospital where he died from his injury.

Detectives from the Major Case Squad and Crime Scene Unit responded to the scene. Detectives interviewing subjects and witnesses, canvassing for potential surveillance video, and processing forensic evidence. It was determined that the victim, identified as Khaman Chisolm, was engaged in a domestic dispute with the mother of his child. Investigators determined that the dispute then escalated to violence, and it is alleged that the mother stabbed Kennedy on the neck with a kitchen knife.

The initial 911 call originated from the occupants of the apartment.

The suspect, identified as Channell Renee Franklin, 33, of Yonkers, remained at the scene and was arrested and charged with one count of second-degree manslaughter, a class B violent felony. She was arrested Feb. 4.

The case is being prosecuted by the Westchester County District Attorney’s Office.

Yonkers police recently made an arrest related to a domestic violence case. On Jan. 29 at about 3:10 p.m., YPD responded to the area of South Broadway and Vark Street for reports of shots fired. Shortly after, officers learned a 41-year-old resident of Yonkers was taken to a hospital.

Investigations throughout the night revealed an attempt to identify the perpetrator as Gavan Chisolm, 16, of Yonkers, and was able to locate him and force him to change his location in a stable condition at a local area hospital.

Chisolm was arrested and processed at a police facility pending arraignment. During the incident, Chisolm suffered apparent and wounds to his high area, and police.

Chisolm was arraigned as an adolescent offender in the Youth Part of the Westchester County Court. The case is being prosecuted by the Westchester County District Attorney’s Office.

“Violent acts, even those committed by young adults, will not be tolerated in our city,” said Police Commissioner Charles Gardner. “Gun violence has no place in our communis, and let this week act be a stark re- minder to our young people that their actions may have life-altering consequences – in this case, two lives and two families have been left devastaed.”

The investigation is ongoing.

Yonkers police recently caught a pair of two fatalities.

A new lodge was recently chartered by the New York Grand Lodge, Order of the Knights of the York Rite in Yonkers on Feb. 1. The Lodge Officers B. Collelo Lodge 2998 plans to install its 25 members during a spe- cial ceremony at the Westchester Manor in Hastings-On-Hudson.

Both State President Robert Ferrini and National First Vice President Harvey DiFranco Quets will be in attendance, along with many other national and state officers. The installation took place by Anthony McGinty Lodge 260, La Ami- dante 2159 and John D. Calcada Lodge 2600.

The Founders of the lodge are Carmen Zul- li, Steven Testorla and Neil Polite. The new president of the lodge is Carmen Zulli. Officer Joseph B. Collelo is a former educator and Connecticut Police Officer with the Westchester County Department of Corrections. A beloved son, brother, grandparent, nephew, cousin, and friend with an enormous passion for life and adventure, he was taken from his family way too early in life. The founders of the lodge want to recognize Collelo’s love of family, love of com- munity, and lower extremities and was listed in stable condition in a local area hospital.

The Dispute then escalates to violence, and it is alleged that the mother stabbed Kennedy on the neck with a kitchen knife.

Why Schultz’ Presidential Bid Should be Welcomed

“Thank You Howard”

Almost 2 percent of babies born in the United States today begin as embryos selected by their parents, with the lab.vin in vitro fertilization. The growth of reproductive medicine has benefited millions and new technology is making it increasingly possible to preserve and extend family, and to pick and choose between embryos. But many of those advancements have raised ethical questions.

In “Designer Babies (You Say That Like It’s a Bad Thing),” a panel of experts in the field of genetic engineering will discuss the implications of IVF and preimplantation testing on those who use it, and on those who don’t. The program will be held Friday, Feb. 25 from 7 to 9 p.m. and will feature Dr. James Groll, director of the New York University Langone Fertility Center; Laura Hatcher, director of student research for SLC’s Joan H. Marks Graduate Program in Human Genetics; and Josephine Johnston, an expert on the ethical, legal and policy implications of biotechnological developments.

“Designer Babies” is sponsored by The Gittler Silverwood MS ’74 Memorial Lectures, established in honor of Gittler Silverwood, an SLC alumna who worked as a genetic counselor for 25 years and dedicated significant time and attention to teaching and guiding students, junior counselors, and residents.

It is the latest in a series of events held by the college called Difference in Dialogue, which explores— from various viewpoints—one of the most contentious issues of our times. This event is open to the public. To RSVP, e-mail college@sunylicollege.edu.

Dr. James Groll, a former professor of the New York University Langone Fertility Center since 1995 and a pioneer in preimplantation genetic diagnosis and preimplantation genetic screening, says: “In 1992, he performed the first embryonic biopsy that resulted in a live birth in the United States. A leader in egg freezing, Groll’s research team produced the NYU Vitrolife Method, which has been in use at that center since 2006. The first baby born through the use of egg freezing at the center was in 2007.

Laura Hatcher is director of student research in SLC’s Joan H. Marks Graduate Program in Human Genetics. As a writer and researcher, she has focused on the ethical and legal questions faced by practitioners of genetic medicine.

Josephine Johnston is a New Zealand-trained lawyer with a master’s degree in bioethics and health law and is an expert on the ethical, legal and policy implications of biomedical technologies— particularly as used in human reproduction, psychiatry, genetics and neuroscience.

Graduation rates for each high school are: Gorton High School, 83 percent; Lincoln HS, 85 percent; Pelham Preparatory School, 78 percent; Riverdale HS, 85 percent; Roosevelt HS, 81 percent; Saunders Trades Technical HS, 91 percent; Yonkers Middle/High School, 94 percent; and Yonkers Montessori Academy, 93 percent.

Economically disadvantaged YPS students graduated at an 85 percent rate, the same as last year, and 12 percentage points higher than the statewide average. The 3 percentage points higher than the statewide average. The 3 percentage points higher than the statewide average.

Black and African-American YPS students graduated at an 80 percent rate –10 percentage points higher than the statewide average, and the 5 percentage point drop rate is the same as last year and 3 percentage points lower than the state average.

Hispanic and Latino YPS students graduated at an 86 percent rate, a 1 percentage point increase from last year and 17 percentage points higher than the statewide average. The 5 percentage drop rate is the same as last year, and 6 percentage points lower than the statewide average.

Communication difficulties among YPS students is a systemic problem that requires a systemic solution from all stakeholders. We are not providing the resources needed to support our students, and it’s no secret that I looked at an independent candidate in 2020.

It is time for an independent presidential candidate who will stand up for the survivors of these heinous crimes. That is why the Senate Democratic majority has been fighting alongside survivors and advocates for years to pass the Child Victims Act. It passed by the Senate by a 63-0 vote, and passed the Assembly by a 105-15 vote with the signature. I am infuriated that I was never given the opportunity to speak in favor of the bill. Many others have been able to do so. I support Mayor Spano and was interested in supporting the effort to extend limited terms, which I supported in 2016, with the Republican nomination. We do not believe that Bloomberg and Schultz and their fundraising machines.

Stop on-screen podcast, "March and the Morals." The work we do matters. It’s possible that another candidate mount a primary challenge to my opponent and run against me. I feel strongly that no matter who you support, it’s time to stand up for the survivors who are making a difference and make a difference in the world.

For students with disabilities, the YPS graduation rate of 58 percent aligned with the statewide average, and the 3 percentage point drop rate decreased 4 percentage points from last year, and 6 percentage points lower than the statewide average.

To last fall I spent over $100 million of my own money to enroll Democrats to the House because I believed it was absolutely imperative to ensure a congressional counterweight to President Trump. And, I truly have never been more successful. But that was just the first step – the next and most important step is to defeat the next and most important step is to defeat the Republican firewall. Mary Calvi Appearances for Washington-Mary Philipse Book

Yonkers First Lady and CBS NY news anchor Mary Calvi will be making the following upcoming appearances to promote her book, "Dear George, Dear Mary: A Novel of George Washington's First Love." The book is all about Yonkers back in the 1750s and a perfect Valentine’s Day gift.

On Sunday, Feb. 10, Calvi will be at Anderson's Book Store in Larchmont.

On Wednesday, Feb. 13, she will offer a public talk at the Riverfront Library at 6 p.m. This free event is sponsored by The Foundation for the Yonkers Public Library, and will be followed by a book signing. Books can be pre-ordered online at www.foundationforypl.org and picked up at the event, with a portion of the proceeds supporting The Foundation for the Yonkers Public Library.

On Feb. 14, Calvi will be at the Barnes & Noble on Central Avenue in Yonkers from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. This Valentine’s Day discussion and book signing coincides with the day that GW came to Yonkers, on Feb 14, 1756.

On Friday, Feb. 15, Calvi will return to the room where it all happened, Philipse Manor Hall, in downtown Yonkers, as the Friends of Philipse Manor Hall will host a reading and book signing to celebrate the book launch. Step back in time and experience an evening much like the one George Washington and Mary Philipse encountered on Valentine’s Day so many years ago. Colonial re-enactors, demonstrations of authentic music and dance, and period-inspired refreshments are all part of this enchanted evening.

Tickets are $45 for general admission and $35 for members of the Friends of Philipse Manor Hall. All proceeds will go toward continued programming at the house. Be a witness to this delightful story. Order your tickets now, as space is limited.
