Welcome Back to Yonkers? Breen Opposes Early Parole Bill

By Dan Murphy

A bill in the State Legislature that would allow inmates over the age of 55 to be considered for early release from prison, including those sentenced to life without parole, has resulted in outrage from murder victims’ families and law enforcement, and a resolution in opposition from Westchester County Minority Leader Mike Breen. The “Early Parole Bill” would allow all inmates to be considered for release after they’ve served 15 years in prison and reached age 55. The state Board of Parole would be required to conduct a hearing to determine if an older inmate should be released, and could release an individual if “there is a reasonable probability that he or she will live and remain at liberty without violating the law and that his or her release is not incompatible with public safety.”

This year’s volunteer and salaried legislators from Yonkers for 2019 are Elliot Nelson and Melatina Cowans. Nelson will graduate with a 97 percent grade-point average, his favorite, and most interesting teachers are Eva Anzil, who teaches health science and bio ethics; and Brian Fraser, who teaches global history, economics, and government.

Their two teaching methods have always broadened my understanding of government and health and have allowed me to make occasion.

Soft Serve or Hard Ice Cream
By Eric Schoen

Memorial Day is here and yet another holiday of summer. Hopefully, we have escaped the rain and the thunderstorms, and the sunshine will soon warm us up. Unless, of course, you are in Buffalo, where, as skis lodges are open to take advantage of last-minute snow.

When it snows it rains and is cold when it is not supposed to be, how can we enjoy "global warming"? "The weather is totally out of our control, and, as I said last week, "What sorts of weather we have," said John.

So are you a soft serve or hard ice cream fan? Growing up in Yonkers, I became a fan of Carvel's soft serve ice cream--the kind that comes twirling out of those big metal machines. I would look forward to watching the Carvel employee twirl the soft ice cream cone in the vat of syrup and let the toppings fall from the cone. Sprinkles and chopped nuts belonged on soft serve ice cream cones. Larger items like cookie pieces, sauerkraut and/or onions barely make the cut on soft serve ice cream. It really looks awkward if you use the wrong cone with the wrong kind of ice cream. Sad! To afford an Carvel ice cream cone, one needs to take out a mortgage. I'll never forget being in Connecticut and having dinner at a local seafood restaurant. There were millions of places that will gladly fill you up. A good sized restaurant is good, re- placement swirls of crushed nuts, spritzers or sauerkraut, sauerkraut and onions. Big, juicy crisp French fries. And Orangeade. Not to mention the restaurant staff will happily fill you up for free. The key to soft serve dispensing, I would say: Batteries Never Need Charging. Eric Schoen

The City of Yonkers' Fire Department has commenced its annual fire hydrant inspections throughout the city. Firefighters are expected to conduct the inspections in a span of six to eight weeks, with work taking place during the hours of 9 a.m. and noon Monday through Friday. The program is designed to test the city's 4,280 fire hydrants to ensure they are working properly, have proper pressure, and can function effectively in the event of a fire. While the inspections take place, residents may expect to see fire trucks and crews of firefighters identifying their hydrants, and opening the hydrants and flowing water during the testing procedure. While the inspections occur, residents may experience fluctuations in water pressure and discolored water, due to the disruption of the water system from opening and closing the hydrants.

To prevent hydraulic testing, it is recommended that residents avoid doing laundry during the hours of inspection; once cold water runs, it is safe to run laundry. In the event a hydrant is raised, residents are encouraged to contact the Yonkers Water Treatment Plant at 914-377-6767 or by email at BRIs@Yonkers.net to report no water or water pressure issues.

Residents are encouraged to visit www.yonkersny.gov for the most updated information. Residents can also contact the 24-hour Mayor’s Helpline at 914-377-HELP (4357) for additional recommendations.

Unfortunately, RFK Jr., one of the greatest environmentalists of our time, has been a vocal opponent of vaccines since 2005. He has been a skeptic of vaccines since the late 1970s and has been involved in legal battles against vaccine manufacturers.

Mayor Mike Spano recently presented a proclamation to Sam Riti, commander of AMETS Post 40, commemorating the 60th anniversary of the 7th Ward War Memorial Monument, located in Yonkers on Park Hill Avenue. This memorinal commemorates the lives of Yonkers residents from Park Hill who died for our country.

Fifty-nine names are on the memorial – 14 from World War I, 42 from World War II, three from Korea and one from Vietnam. Riti recalled the dedication of the memorial, which took place in October 1959.

"The neighborhood held a big rally to replace the smaller stone that was there," he said. "They held raffles and fundraisers to pay for the monu-mement, and first prize was a Cadillac. If you didn't want the Caddy, you could take a $3,000 cash prize. This memorial is a lasting memory honoring the boys from this neighborhood who made the ultimate sacrifice."
Over half a million rent-stabilized units are in buildings more than 70 years old. They require constant maintenance.

But Albany wants to gut programs that let owners maintain these buildings.

Existing programs mean owners can afford to maintain their buildings, while still keeping rents affordable. Without them, they’ll make it impossible for many owners to afford to maintain their buildings, causing them to fall into disrepair.
