The Yonkers Science Barge on the Hudson River

The newly refurbished Science Barge will open to the public Saturday, May 12, with more than 500 on hand to celebrate. This season opening will be a larger-than-life occasion, celebrating 10 years since the Science Barge came to Yonkers’ waterfront.

The afternoon will feature special recognition of those who have made a major contribution to the innovative educational programming and energy systems on the Science Barge, including the City of Yonkers. Mayor Mike Spano will be on hand to cut the ribbon at 1 p.m.

The city and LimeBike hope to roll out the month in celebration of National Bike Month, with bikes on the streets of Yonkers for the week of May 21.

LimeBike Offers Yonkers a Mobility Solution

By Dan Murphy
The City of Yonkers scored a coup when the dock-free smart bikeshare company LimeBike.com chose to launch its service in the city, making the city’s first offer of dock-free cycling in the greater New York metropolitan area.

The city and LimeBike hope to roll out the new program and green-lime bikes later this month in celebration of National Bike Month, with bikes on the streets of Yonkers for the week of May 21.

“We are excited to offer the residents of Yonkers a mobility solution that’s affordable, reliable, convenient and fun,” said Gil Kremin, Lime New York general manager.

A Charter High School In Yonkers, Part 2

Quezada Says No! Public Hearing May 16

By Dan Murphy

Last fall, the Charter School for Educational Excellence in Yonkers applied for a five-year renewal for its kindergarten through eighth grade school. In addition, CSEE also applied for an expansion to its school to include a high school. In addition, CSEE also applied for an expansion to its school to include a high school.

The arguments for a charter high school from CSEE are regional. Proponents see the need for a high school, drawing half of its students from Yonkers and half from the Bronx and Rockland counties.

Hero Cop Honored as ‘Woman of Distinction’

Senate Democratic Leader Andrea Stewart-Cousins honored Detective Kayla Maher from the City of Yonkers as the 2018 Woman of Distinction from the 35th Senate District in New York State.

This distinction is given to exceptional women who have demonstrated excellence and improved the lives of residents in their communities and throughout the state. The New York State Senate acknowledged her many contributions during a ceremony in Albany recently.

"Detective Kayla Maher is a phenomenal woman and a true hero," said Stewart-Cousins.

"Last year, Kayla responded to a call with her partner about a suspicious vehicle, and as they approached, they came under fire. Thankfully, Kayla made a full recovery, and she has since been promoted to detective. She continues to serve the residents of Yonkers in this capacity, and her commitment to protecting her community is anything but.
She is an exceptional woman and an inspiration to me personally and she has truly earned her place among the 2018 Women of Distinction."

Maher was born in the Bronx as one of four children to New York Police Department Officer Susan Barry and Michael Maher. She attended Lincoln High School and studied at Dominican College. During each of her spring breaks, she volunteered with Habitat For Humanity, helping people in underprivileged areas and those whose lives had been impacted by natural disasters. After graduating in 2013, she made the decision to follow in her mother’s footsteps and become a police officer. In 2015, she joined the Yonkers Police Department, working as a patrol officer in the Third Precinct.

Maher’s life changed forever on Sept. 25,
2017, during her second year with the Yonkers
Police Department. She and her partner responded to a call regarding a suspicious vehicle outside of a residence in Yonkers. Maher and the other officers were shot at when they approached the car, and Maher herself was shot in the face. She was rushed to Jacobi Medical Center in the Bronx and eventually made a complete recovery. She kept her spirit and humor up during the recovery process, as she was committed to returning to work as soon as she was cleared.

In 2018, Maher was promoted to detective, and the Detective Crime Clinic of Metropolitan New Jersey and New York named her an "Outstanding Law Enforcement Professional."
She also received the 2018 Law and Order Front Line Award. She is a member of the Police Embracing Society of Westchester and the Fraternal Order of the Police.

Mayor Plays Barista for a Day

Mt. Vernon, New Rochelle & Yonkers Get HUf Funding

Rep. Eliot Engel, in a top men-bar on the House En-ity and Community Committee, recently announced that the citi-ies of Mt. Vernon, New Rochelle and Yonkers have been notified of federal funds from the U.S. Department of House-ing and Urban Development totaling more than $8.7 million for fiscal year 2018. “Affordable housing such a critical isssue here in New York, especially for residents in Westchester,” said Engel. “These federal funds will allow Mt. Vernon, New Rochelle and Yonkers to develop more affordable housing options, fight homelessness, and help keep working families in their community. I have consistently fought for robust funding for these HUD programs, and will continue advocating for additional federal funds to help expand affordable housing options in my district.”
The HUD money is broken down into three different types of grant programs: Community Development Block Grants, Emergency Solutions Grants, and the HOME Program. The Community Development Block Grants program provides annual grants to

Nena Needs a Home

The Yonkers Animal Shelter has many pets available for adoption.

Nena is about 4 years old and 45 pounds. She’s a beautiful Rednose Terrier who arrived at the shelter because her owner was no longer able to care for her. Nena has a lot of energy and a lot of love to give, so she’ll be a great friend. She’s very playful and loves to run and play with other dogs.

Visit Nena between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. any day of the week. For more information, call 201-916-3215.

Nena loves to sit on a bench with her person and just take it in as she’s a smart, happy dog. She has nice park manners, takes treats calmly, and rarely barks. Although Nena was adopted during an Adoption event and may be available for adoption, she will be rehomed as soon as possible.

Three accomplished professionals who work in collaboration to improve the lives of those they touch with their special community role were honored recently by the Hebrew Home of New Rochelle at the organization’s seventh annual Community Service Awards.

Ronalee Minkes, Eileen Davidson and Charles Fazzino were recognized for their advocacy and commitment to developing programs, services and initiatives that enrich the lives of seniors on United Hebrew’s campus, in the Westchester community, and beyond.

“We’re so glad that is to say it up to take notice — whatever that kind of success and opportunity that volunteer, the Hebrew Home is dedicated to the family, the arts, they each go above and beyond,” said Ronalee Minkes, president and CEO of United Hebrew. “Today we celebrate each of our honorees, who give not to receive, but because they see a need. Through their work in health care, education, and the arts, they each go above and beyond to enrich the lives of our seniors on our campus and across Westchester.”

The Health of Our Community

United Hebrew Honors Three Community Champions

Several libraries in Westchester County will screen the critically acclaimed documentary “Resilience: The Biology of Stress & The Science of Hope.” The documentary explains how adverse childhood events impact physical and mental health outcomes from childhood through adulthood. Following the screening there will be a community discussion centered on learning perspectives on how to better support the community’s children for the youth, families and overall health.

The screenings took place at Ossining Public Library on May 9, and at Mount Vernon YMCA Library on May 16. Another screening will take place at Delhi-Tarry Public Library, 55 Main St., on Wednesday, May 23 at 6:30 p.m.

The Resilience Coalition is made up of a dozen social service organizations from the county, each an essential part of a healing perspective on how to better support the community’s children for the youth, families and overall health.

Senior Citizens and Health Care

At our winding hospital, we treat all wounds.

Wound care is the art and science of treating wounds — a discipline that requires both comprehensive, coordinating traditional and advanced therapies that aid and accelerate the healing process. Our Center is staffed by a multidisciplinary team of physicians and nurses with advanced training in wound care.

For you that means faster healing times, longer-lasting results, decreased amputation rates and increased mobility.

“Not only are their individual achievements and commitment to improving the lives of Westchester’s elderly.”

The three were celebrated at a special ceremony attended by approximately 80 business, government, and health care leaders, at United Hebrew’s campus in New Rochelle.

“Not only are their individual achievements remarkable, but collectively, their expertise benefits so many individuals in our community,” said Minkes. “We are truly inspired by what they do to help our seniors live independently and with dignity and good health, now and in the future.”

In her remarks, Minkes thanked each honoree for their outstanding contributions, advocacy, and commitment to bettering the lives of Westchester’s elderly.

Anthropology, religion, history and English. She has completed nine IB courses and one advanced placement course.

In addition to her stellar academic career at YHS, Kulaprathazhe has found time for a long list of extracurricular activities, including serving as the New York State Division of Human Rights, acting as president of the DNA Learners Club, editor of the YHS newspaper, a member of the YHS bowling team, a member of the YHS Partners in Education Fellowships Program, and a volunteer at the St. Vincent de Paul House with the Yonkers Historical Society.

Her volunteer and community service has also included work with Habitat for Humanity, the Science Museum, and at St. Peter’s and Paul’s Church in Harrison.

Kulaprathazhe had one college that she dreamt of attending: the University of Pennsylvania, or Penn — an Ivy League school located in Philadelphia. But Kulaprathazhe’s city and Penn has the oldest sociology department that will provide me with maximum opportunities,” she said.

She applied to only one college — Penn and was accepted and received a full scholarship. Kulaprathazhe plans to major in sociology with a concentration in global and international studies. “I hope to work for a large non-profit that is devoted to the cause of human rights,” she said. “Eventually, I hope to work at the UN.”

Kulaprathazhe said she is grateful for the teachers she had at YHS, as early as prekindergarten (Gibran school), who helped her learn English, and then to Pelham Central School, where both she and the salutatorian attended. Her parents and her older sister have also served as pillars in her love of hard work, science, and education.

Kulaprathazhe’s advice to future YHS students is to “dedicate yourself to a cause you care about, work that is meaningful to you, and do your best.”

“Yonkers High School has offered me so many opportunities and I want others to have that same experience.”

“Yonkers is pleased to join the growing list of progressive cities that make dockless bike-sharing available to residents and visitors,” said Minkes.

Domino Sugar & Greyston Relocate Community Garden

Employees of the Domino Sugar Yonkers Refinery recently helped Greyston relocate plants, tables and chairs from a 23-year-old community garden on a vacant lot in Ludlow Park that is moving to make way for a new development.

The garden, located at 81-83 Buena Vista Ave., on land owned by the City of Yonkers, opened to the community in 1995 and is among several community gardens run by Greyston. When Greyston learned of the need to move, the Domino Sugar Yonkers Refinery committed to helping preserve as much of the garden as possible. A financial contribution from the refinery has ensured that six to eight garden beds, as well as many of the tables and chairs in the garden, could be transported to Greyston’s Steve Whetstone Community Garden, located several blocks south at the intersection of Buena Vista Avenue and Vark Street.

Product employees from the refinery and community members involved by Greyston’s community garden work carried out the move and prepared the Steve Whetstone Community Garden for the spring growing season.

“Although it is sad to see the closure of the Old Buena Vista Garden, at the same time, it’s promising how much our community program has grown and prospered in the past 25 years,” said Lucy Menone-Caravella, Greyston’s Community Garden project coordinator. “Domino Sugar has played an important role in this growth through their support of our Steve Whetstone Community Garden, which, thanks to their employees, was able to accommodate plants from our closing Buena Vista Garden.”

Greyston’s Community Wellness Program helps ensure that everyone in southwest Yonkers has access to the resources they need to thrive physically, intellectually and emotionally. The community garden is a key component of this program work, providing safe green spaces where families can gather, grow and learn about fresh foods, and participate in creating a healthy community in southwest Yonkers.

ASP Group, which owns the Domino Sugar Yonkers Refinery, has made significant investments to the Steve Whetstone Community Garden in the past few years, including replacing the fence to improve the garden’s security and enhance its appearance within the community, and installing picnic benches and a gazebo that are used for educational classes for local schoolchildren.

ASP Group has also made a donation to assist with operating costs for the garden and its programming.

“Greyston’s Community Gardens and Environmental Education Program is a great partner for us because we have a shared commitment to sustainability and the Yonkers community,” said Refinery Manager Matt Shue. “The program helps provide fresh, locally-grown produce for our neighbors and offers wonderful learning opportunities for children in our community and their families. We’re delighted to continue supporting the program’s important work.”

The Domino Sugar Yonkers Refinery, which provides more than 400 jobs and produces 4 million pounds of sugar a day, said it is proud to support southwest Yonkers community. In recent years, the refinery has helped renovate the gym at the nearby St. Peace-Valle-Dana Catholic Church, which serves as a safe venue for youth sports and a gathering space for the community. The refinery also recently underwrote the construction of a STEM lab for Father Pat’s School and has been a longtime contributor to Yonkers Partners in Education, Groundwork Hudson Valley’s Yonkers Science Ortega Barge, the Hudson River Museum, and other local charities.

It also sponsors the Yonkers Downtown/Waterfront Business Improvement District’s annual summer concert series, which kicks off its 2018 season at the Downtown Waterfront Amphitheater next month.

The National Liquidators store is under demolition.

Kudos to the staff at Yonkers City Hall for getting a bad corporate tenant, National Liquidators, to demolish its vacant building at the Cross County Shopping Center in a timely manner after reports came out that the former store was infested with rats.

Neighboring businesses and homeowners complained about the pig sty left behind by the store as it moved swiftly with its own demolition and clean up of the store site, adding to the delay in getting a new tenant for the site.

The demolition is quickly moving along.

National Liquidators, who decided to close its doors and split before cleaning out the leftover food, which attracted the rodents. Shortly after the information went public, the city gave the owners two choices – either move swiftly with its own demolition and clean up of the store site, adding to the delay in getting a new tenant for the site.

Mayer Mike Spano recently joined members of the Yonkers City Council, Board of Education President Dr. Edwin Quezada, Board of Education trustees, we congratulate the Riverside High School staff and students at Riverside High School’s School of the Month designation.

“Riverside High School Principal Dr. Don Solimene, the teachers and staff are providing an enriched and cohesive instructional program,” quoted Solimene. “The success that Riverside is having in engineering and robotics is just one example of this dynamic school community where everyone is learning and achieving together.”

Spano’s School of the Month recognition program began in January 2014 as a way to celebrate the significant academic success, extra-curricular achievements and community volunteerism of the students, teachers, administrators and staff at Yonkers Public Schools.

The Lawyer’s Desk: #MeToo… You Too?

By Patricia Mulligan, Esq.

Sexual harassment in the workplace is an age-old problem receiving heightened scrutiny as late as late largely to the #MeToo movement. Indeed, studies have also shown that many victims of sexual harassment did suffer retaliation when they tried to speak up. Retaliation can come in many shapes and sizes, including, but not limited to a poor work environment, job loss and attorney fees.

An employee can consult a labor and employment attorney to review the facts and circumstances of their situation. This article is written by a member of the Oman Law Group. PLLC (www.omanlaw.com). They can contact or solicit and can be directed to their office at 944-4223 or omannovak@omannovak.com.

Examples include crude jokes, sexual coercion, sexual touching, cyber sexual harassment, general flushing, sexual assault, learning, teasing, whistling, displaying pornography, and groping.

The harasser can be your boss or a co-worker. Both are unlawful.

Sexual harassment in the workplace knows no boundaries and can occur virtually anywhere, regardless of your income, where you work, your race, your ethnicity or your age. Some industries are worse than others when it comes to workplace sexual harassment, such as male-dominated industries or low-wage jobs where workers feel even more powerless.

The bottom line is this: Sexual harassment in the workplace is unlawful. Local, state and federal laws exist to protect employees against discrimination and debilitating behavior that simply has no place in the workplace.

Retaliation for complaining of sexual harassment is also illegal.

Remedies available to employees found to have been the victim of unlawful sexual harassment may include, among others, compensatory damages for pain and suffering, reinstatement, punitive damages, and attorney fees.

Employers who believe they have been subjected to unlawful sexual harassment should consult a labor and employment attorney to review the facts and circumstances of their situation.
