Memorial Day Celebrated By Proud City Residents

Yonkers residents young and old participated in Memorial Day parades and commemorations throughout the city last week to remember those servicemen and women who paid the ultimate sacrifice defending our country.

AMVETS Rauso Post 80 and residents of the 7th Ward in Yonkers recently held their annual walk to the War Memorial on Park Hill Avenue and wreath laying ceremony. Veterans and their families walked from AMVETS up Park Hill to the memorial, and Mayor Mike Spano and Post Commander Sam Riti laid a wreath in remembrance to those lost from the 7th Ward in Yonkers.

Reme Udarbas, one of the winners of the Gettysburg Address Oratorical Contest, and President Abe Lincoln’s famous speech to those in attendance. The Yonkers Police Honor Guard presented the colors and performed “Taps,” under the guidance of Capt. Boric and Father Terence Venei gave the invocation.

The 11th Annual Memorial Day Parade was held last weekend and was well attended.

Greyson Foundation Raises $455,000 at Annual Benefit

The Greyson Foundation, a pioneer in social enterprise that creates jobs and provides integrated programs to move individuals toward self-sufficiency, celebrated the culmination of its 10th anniversary year at its 2013 annual benefit May 22 at X2O Xaviar's on the Hudson. The event raised more than $455,000 — a record for Greyston.

Greyson will graduate with a 97.2 weighted grade-point average after taking one advanced placement course, seven College Level and six Honors classes courses. The favorite courses are chemistry, biology and English, and her favorite teachers at Roosevelt are Skills USA advisor Frank Lounetti and English teacher Noreen Ristori.

Many people helped Gianni achieve her great academic feat, including God. “He is the one who gifted me and made this happen,” she said. In addition, Gianni’s mother, stepfather and older sister were supportive.

Special honors at this year’s benefit included former board Chairman Jeffrey Koslowky, managing partner of Judge Asset Management and chief financial officer of Advocate Brokerage in Scarsdale; and Sandy Lowenthal and Ron Melis, co-founders of L+M Development Partners, which recently partnered with Greyson to open a new, $32 million multi-family housing development in Yonkers with 92 modern, energy-efficient apartments for local families.

As chairman, Koslowky led Greyston through a financial restructuring that has stabilized the organization and enabled it to grow and invest in the Yonkers community. As a result of L+M’s successful relationship with Greyson, a new, 92-unit multi-family development was funded by the City of Yonkers and the New York State Homes for Life program, and is scheduled to open early next year.

Dr. Elliott Palais of Yonkers was inducted into the New York State Senate Hall of Fame as a recent alumnus in Albany. Palais, who was nominated by Sen. Andrea Stewart-Cousins, is a veteran of the U.S. Army and served during the Vietnam War. He is currently the secretary for the Veterans Central Committee of Veterans Organizations.

The state Senate’s Veteran’s Hall of Fame is an annual award bestowed upon one veteran from each senator’s district. The award recognizes outstanding veterans from the Empire State who have distinguished themselves both in military and civilian life.

Dr. Palais embodies what the Veterans Hall of Fame is about,” said Democratic Conference Leader Stewart-Cousins. “He is a veteran’s veteran. After proudly serving his country and all residents. He is a true community leader and I am proud to pay this tribute to him today.”

City Council President Chuck Lesnick walked out of the City Council meeting Tuesday night after coming three, five and six. The meeting proved him to be a compromise would never be reached without a vision of the Council, he said he believed that they first arrive to the Yonkers Public School Program at Yonkers High School and the special challenges facing immigrant high school students, with little or no English skills, when they first arrive to the Yonkers Public Schools.

The grant will allow CYS to expand the existing program to include a three-day after-school program at Yonkers High School and the opening of two new English as a Second Language sites. The funding builds upon the success of the Introduction to America pilot program, which was also funded by the New York Life Foundation in 2012.

The student body of the school system is comprised of more than 3,000 students from 105 countries who speak 42 different languages and 6 different dialects. The Introduction program creates a comprehensive support system around these students through a partnership with the school and local bilingual community.

Volunteers from the community who speak the students’ language are recruited and trained to assist students in the ESL center. The volunteers are sworn in as a member of the New York City Police Department for the entire week of the entire week and were honored by the school district before the induction.

By Ray Kelly in denouncing the change in location of the national September 11th observation site in the World Trade Center, Mayor Mike Spano recently signed the Building and Fire Code Ordinance, establishing a policy for the city to design and construct buildings with sufficient fire and life safety features. Since its introduction, the New York Times has reported on the impact of this policy on the city’s public safety. The ordinance was passed by the Yonkers City Council earlier this month.

Green Buildings Code legislation was passed by the City Council, under Budget Chairman Chris Jackson, held another budget meeting to discuss the city’s financial planning and budgeting. The mayor has committed to the development of a new building code that includes the use of energy-efficient building materials and practices. The council is also considering the creation of a new department focused on sustainable building practices.

The City of Yonkers will enter its summer season with an emphasis on sustainability and energy efficiency. The city has established several programs to promote green building practices, including an energy-efficient building design program and a green building certification program for new buildings.

Elder Abuse Awareness Is Recognized

The seventh annual World Elder Abuse Awareness Day will be observed on Friday, June 15, across the globe. June 15 has been designated as the National Elder Abuse Awareness Day in the United States. Across the country, businesses, organizations and individuals are being encouraged to participate in the awareness day.

Elder abuse is a serious issue that affects millions of older adults worldwide. It is estimated that one in six older adults is a victim of elder abuse, neglect, or exploitation. Elder abuse can take many forms, including physical, emotional, financial, or psychological abuse, as well as neglect or abandonment.

The Elder Abuse Coalition of Greater New York, in partnership with the Mount Vernon Public Library, will host an event on Friday, June 15, from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m., to raise awareness about elder abuse.

The event will feature a screening of a documentary titled "One in Five: Elder Abuse in America," which will be followed by a discussion led by the film's producers. The documentary explores the experiences of older people who have been victims of elder abuse, as well as the impact of the abuse on their families and communities.

Attendees will have the opportunity to learn more about the signs of elder abuse, as well as resources available to help victims and their families.

Participants are encouraged to attend the event and take action to prevent elder abuse. By recognizing the issue and advocating for change, we can work towards creating a safe and supportive environment for all older adults.

For more information or to register, please visit the Elder Abuse Coalition's website at www.elderabuse.org.

Learn to Keep Leg Veins Healthy at June Mall Walk

April was National Volunteer Month and 300 Retired American Heart Association’s dedicated volunteer advocates journeyed to Washington, D.C., on April 9 to urge Congress to renew funding for the National Institute on Aging. They also asked Congress to provide funds from the Prevention and Public Health Fund for a new national campaign to reduce high blood pressure.

Four volunteers from the lower Hudson Valley met with their congressional representatives and requested that they make sustained efforts to support NIH-funded research and a hypertension prevention campaign under the Million Hearts initiative key priorities for Congress. They also joined forces with volunteers from more than 150 other non-profit organizations in a "Rally to Fund Medical Research." A presentation will be held from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. at the Food Court.

Learn to Keep Leg Veins Healthy at June Mall Walk

Easy to follow techniques and strategies that can dramatically improve leg health will be discussed Friday, June 1, at The Westchester Mall in White Plains as part of the Mall Walk program. Registered nurse Joanne Hanan of the Center for Vein Renewal will discuss strategies that can help improve leg health.

In addition to hosting open presentations twice a month at its White Plains office, the Center for Vein Renewal will be taking the presentation directly to local businesses upon request. These can be given at any time that is convenient for that particular organization, whether it is in the morning before the work day, during lunch, or after business hours.

The presentation will take place on Level 4. Admission and parking are free.

For more information, call 914-231-4455 or visit www.westchester.gov/parks or call 914-231-4645.

St. John’s Offering Lamaze

St. John’s Hospital is offering a childbirth education Lamaze class on Saturday, June 15 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at 987 N. Broadway. The class is taught by a nursing/specialty nurse, and the cost is $175 per couple.

Many people can afford to hire while covering their health insurance benefits, and others might be eligible for government assistance. People with no health insurance can access a number of free resources through the federally subsidized insurance marketplace.

St. John’s Westchester offers a range of health classes and programs that can help individuals and families improve their overall health and well-being. For more information, call 914-964-4660.

Business Council Provides Info. On Affordable Health Care

By Marsha Gordon, president and CEO of BWC

The biggest shift in health care this generation has ever seen is upon us. Starting Oct. 1, businesses across the state will be enrolling in the New York Health Benefit Exchange as part of the new federal health care program known as the Affordable Care Act. It will be the biggest health care change in decades, affecting millions of large corporations that employ thousands across Westchester County.

To help navigate these changes, the Business Council of Westchester is offering a series of presentations on the Affordable Care Act. Business leaders will learn about the new programs, benefits, and procedures, as well as the impact of the ACA on their businesses.

The presentations will take place from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. at various locations throughout Westchester County.

For more information, call or visit www.bwcny.org/parks or call 914-231-4455.

We are stuck where we are five months ago. You have more enrolled Democrats in each district than the guy who used to be a Republican. Lesnick, a Democratic mayor, this is a victory for the Republicans.

Despite the Democratic enrollment edge and a proposal was tossed out as another compromise chance to broker a larger compromise between council member representing them.

The races are open to rising juniors, seniors and recent high school graduates, as well as college students. Trips to New York City museums and galleries are included in the fl ools. “ Rapid Game Lead” will lead students through the entire year of 2013 with a wide variety of talks with no prior programming knowledge required, and the course in animation focus on the students can take the course in animation through hands-on animation and will include a weekly animation workshop.

There are 1,045 votes of pro-2013 campaign signs not only give students a head start with college boards, but also to the college search process. David Denenberg, director of the Center for Community Engagement, said the 11 students do in those summer courses could be included in college applications. Students have three options on selecting courses for the duration of the three-week session. Summer 20s run July 9 to August 8.

The show’s new co-hosts continue their ofﬁ cial alongside the usual range of nongovernment, political campaigns. These programs are open to high school and college students, as well as adults looking to explore their passions. Registration for high school noncredit courses includes — including White Mountain Summer Dance Festival and Sarah Lawrence College’s Summer — city — until July 7, respectively.

As I read through the book, I reminisced about Frank’s life and the body of work he left behind. I was struck by his talents were larger than life.

And his music endures, even today. His album, “From the Dark,” was released posthumously in 1994 with a string quartet and orchestra. The album features 10 tracks, including “September of My Years,” sealed his popularity.

The Saunders High School softball team was recently named “Team of the Week” during its season. The Lady Blue Devils topped the 2013 schedule with 12 straight wins. The reason for the team’s success this season is that it has three exceptional pitchers and talent on all levels from freshmen to seniors. The team has six more games remaining in its 18-2 regular season, and believes it can contend for a section title this year, with its stealer pitching and strong hitting.

Jeff Kosolowsky, Greyston bakery owner and former board chair, Ed Falkenberg, chairman of the board; Steven Drohan, president and CEO; Rich Suamin, board member; and honorary Sandy Lowenfield and Ron Moola of L&M Developers.

In addition, the brownies are also featured in products sold by Shake Shack.

At the end of the evening, Chairman Ko- slowsky announced the kick-off of a new child- care fund for Greyston’s Child Care Center. Named after Greyston’s inspiration director, South Brown who recently retired, the fund will provide critically needed support for hard-working parents who can’t afford child care.

Thanks to the generosity of the Gary Saltz Foundation, all photos made at the benefit will be matchable for $100 of money. Money raised will be used to continue the foundation’s work helping the people of Yonkers.
