Win Tix to Empire Casino Summer Concert Series

By Dan Murphy

If you are a registered voter in Yonkers, you have probably received a call on the door from one of the 15 candidates running for eight different city and county offices, seeking a signature to get on the ballot. With all of the petitions submitted to the Board of Elections, it appears almost all candidates who want to be on the ballot will be.

The Yonkers Election 2015 ballot includes:

Mayor’s Office

The big election in the city will have Mayor Mike Spano seeking re-election to a second term. The Yonkers Democratic Party submitted 1,000 signatures for Spano — a very large number — and a good show of support from Democrats happy with the mayor’s first term.

There will be a challenge in the Democratic primary Sept. 10 from Dr. Fred Hernandez, but only if petitions of the nominating petitions, but pages of the petitions are being challenged as fraudulent.

Hernandez is a Marine Corps veteran who brings a concentration on fiscal analysis to the campaign. He pledged his first elective office and will challenge incumbent Democrat Michael Sabatino in November.

Majorca, 48, is running on a platform of “getting back to basics.” When it comes to providing services for Yonkers residents: Hold the line on property taxes, fighting crime, improving the quality of the environment, expanding the number of services to improve neighborhood safety and quality-of-life issues.

I love Yonkers. I grew up here. Where my wife and I are raising our own children,” he said. “But, like countless other Yonkers families, we have great concern matters to residents. Despite the national media’s obsession with Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump and his comments about illegal immigration, Trump stands in the top tier of GOP presidential candidates in every poll. The reason Americans are listening to Trump’s message about leveling the playing field on trade is that millions of Yonkers families have moved out of the city due to high taxes, while our services are neglected and our neighborhoods are being challenged as fraudulent.

Hernandez, a Yonkers educator for more than 25 years, is hoping to represent and receive the support of the thousands of parents and stakeholders in the Yonkers Public Schools who rallied for education funding in the spring and summer. Yonkers Republicans turned in more than 1,000 signatures for GOP mayoral candidate Bill Nudel, a former Democratic councilman who brings a concentration on fiscal analysis to the ballot. And the race. Nudel’s plan to review VPS $35 million transportation budget sounds interesting.

Patriarch Highlights Mid-East Christians During U.S. Visit

While his Beatitudes John X, Yatskevich, Greek Orthodox Patriarch of Antioch and All the East, and John X, Greek Orthodox Patriarch of Alexandria and All Africa, visit the U.S. through July 29, he renews the clauses recently issued by him and four other bishops who oversee Christian communities in Syria: “We are authentic peoples of this land, deeply rooted in its earth that was watered by the sweat of our fathers and grandfathers, and we confirm more than ever that we are staying,” said Patriarch John.

At several East Coast venues, Patriarch John will reaffirm the historic place of Christians in the Middle East, and call for the immediate release of his brother bishops, the Greek Orthodox Metropolitan Paul Yalogri and the Syriac Orthodox Archbishop John Brunual, both of Aleppo in Syria, who were kidnapped April 22, 2013, as well as the release of all innocent captives.

One of his stops will be St. Vladimir’s Orthodox Theological Seminary in Yonkers, where on Monday, July 27 at 6 p.m., he will deliver an open and public presentation highlighting the tragic displacement of Middle-Eastern Christians and others from their ancient homelands due to civil strife and war. He also will receive an honorary doctoral degree conferred by the seminary’s Board of Trustees and Faculty Council.

For decades the seminary has trained priestos for service in the Antiochian Orthodox Christian Archdiocese of North America, the U.S.-based ecclesial body that is ultimately under Patriarch John’s jurisdiction and is locally administered by His Eminence Metropolitan Joseph Al-Zahlee.

This, Too, is a Can of Yonkers Worms

By Eric W. Schoen

A few days ago, I was perusing an old file of Yonkers worms that my grandfather, who was a gunmaker, had made. He had some amazing techniques for creating these worms, and I thought it would be interesting to share them with you.

Yonkers worms are a type of insect that were popular in the early 20th century. They were made by combining different ingredients to create a slimy, hairy substance that could be used for fishing. My grandfather was known for his skill in making these worms, and he would often share his recipes with me.

I have included some of his original recipes below, along with some of my own modifications. I hope you enjoy them!

Yonkers Worm Recipe 1

- 1 pound of ground beef
- 1/2 cup of cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons of salt
- 1/4 cup of water

Mix all ingredients together in a bowl. Knead until a dough forms. Roll into small balls and let them dry for at least 24 hours.

---

Yonkers Worm Recipe 2

- 2 pounds of fish scales
- 1 pound of ground flax seeds
- 1/2 cup of applesauce

Boil the fish scales until they become soft. Mix the scales with the flax seeds and applesauce in a blender. Knead the mixture until it forms a dough. Roll into small balls and let them dry for 48 hours.

Yonkers Worm Recipe 3

- 1 pound of ground turkey
- 1/2 cup of oatmeal
- 1/4 cup of ketchup

Mix all ingredients together in a bowl. Knead until a dough forms. Roll into small balls and let them dry for at least 24 hours.

---

I hope you enjoy these recipes! If you have any questions or would like to share your own Yonkers worm recipes, please feel free to comment below.

from a Yonkers firefighter, whose name we have

The main purpose of a ladder truck (the one ladders. The Getty Square/Noddine Hill section of Yonkers has an unusual firehouse. There are

City Expands Neighborhood

Protection Partnership

Yonkers Mayor Mike Spano, along with the Yonkers Police Department, announced

last week the expansion of its Neighborhood

Protection Partnership program to reduce crime

and make the community vibrant.

“The recent acts of violence that occurred this week around the ‘tree streets,’ I’ve seen dramatic increases in the number of both uniform and plain clothes officers in the area,” said Police Chief Lawrence Kosco.

In addition to increased visible patrols and one-hour shifts on the ‘tree streets,’ the Fire

Protection Partnership will include increased street inspections, which are focused on parking and building violations.

“We believe a united police presence of both uniform and plain clothes officers in the area will reduce crime, increase traffic enforcement, and improve the overall quality of life for our residents,” said Mayor Spano.

Dear Editor:

Yonkers County Legislator Ken Jenkins has failed to meet the needs of Yonkers County Family Court litigants who have difficulty navigating the courtrooms and seeking needed services. The County Board of Legislators is imploring the body to improve these conditions in our Yonkers Family Court. Judge Davide to ameliorate the long-standing abominable conditions in our Yonkers Family Court. Judge Davide told the日报记者 about the concept of a one-stop shop, he is concerned with the safety of the litigants and their families. He is not about to allow any litigants who have difficulty navigating the courtrooms and seeking needed services.

In a recent interview with News 12, Judge Davide alluded to the argument of separate entrances as "irrelevant." He went on to state: "That's the way the courthouses here in White Plains functions, New Rochelle and across the state of New York. We always take precautions. As you come in to any courthouse you have to go through security...As a Family Court judge, security is paramount to me. The biggest issue is why we built and how we treat the litigants of Family Court with dignity...the concept of a one-stop shop is a level of the importance of dignity of the litigants."

Mr. Jenkins has demonstrated that he is not interested in preserving the dignity of his constituents. Nor has he put forth a feasible plan over the past five years to ameliorate the dire conditions in Yonkers Family Court, to ensure the dignity of his most vulnerable constituents. Mr. Jenkins is solely concerned with appeasing the real estate interests of his campaign donors, preserving his personal safety as Yonkers 13th District president despite the fact that he is pushing his legislative seat now that he has a primary challenger for the first time in his political career.

Mr. Jenkins is not about the needs and women and children of Yonkers. He is not about efficient government.

However, it is crystal clear that Mr. Jenkins is solely concerned with safeguarding the real estate interests of his campaign donors, preserving his personal safety as Yonkers 13th District president despite the fact that he is pushing his legislative seat now that he has a primary challenger for the first time in his political career.
