The United States Tennis Association recently announced the names of 12 vocalists, ages 14 and under, who will perform patriotic-themed songs during the night sessions of the 2017 U.S. Open. In addition to Mills, three other performers are returning for their second consecutive year to perform “America the Beautiful” in front of anticipated capacity crowds during the evening sessions. They are Brandon Hernandez of Yonkers, Angelis of Yonkers, and Maalik Washington of Arizona.

Brandon Hernandez will sing at the Arthur Ashe Kids’ Day event, which kicks off the evening sessions with “The Star Spangled Banner.” As the country’s No. 2 junior player, he will provide a patriotic sendoff to the U.S. Open. Hernandez, who is competing in the quarterfinals, has been invited to perform at the Arthur Ashe Kids’ Day event two years in a row. Tubiolo Pushes Replacement Of Para-Transit Fleet

At a recent meeting of the Westchester County Board of Legislators, Legislation David Tubiolo, chair of the Committee on Seniors and Disabilities, successfully led his colleagues to vote in favor of purchasing 25 new vehicles to support the county’s Para-Transit program.

Para-Transit is a public transportation system that provides service for those who are unable to utilize the regular fixed bus service or driven personal vehicle. Para-Transit is designed for persons with disabilities and/or our senior residents, as these groups experience limitations that make 4 difficult or impossible to carry out day-to-day activities without extra accommodations.

Westchester County Para-Transit is governed by the Department of Public Works and Transportation.

The current Para-Transit fleet contains approximately 100 vehicles. However, over time and frequent utilization, these vehicles show deterioration and require replacement. The fleet makes approximately 1,000 to 1,500 trips per day, so it is projected that there will be 312,000 trips by the end of 2017.

Tubiolo, a member of the Infrastructure Committee, strongly advocated for the passing of the bill.

“We’re replacing 25 vehicles with more fuel-efficient and cost-effective vehicles,” he said. “This will help prolong the life of the vehicles so that we can continue to provide this great service to our county residents with fixed prices of 95 per ride, giving curb-to-curb service.”

It is anticipated that these new vehicles will be ordered within 90 days after receipt of the bond authorization. The Department of Public Works and Transportation also anticipates the purchasing of 10 hybrid Para-Transit vehicles and 15 fuel passenger transfer vehicles.

Resolutions are required in order to use the service and can only be made for those who have been approved by the Director of the Westchester County Government website.

Sunrise Solar Installs Rooftop Panels at Scarborough Manor

Sunrise Solar Solutions LLC, the largest locally owned and operated solar company in Westchester County and the Hudson Valley, has completed a listed residential installation, now 25 percent of the gross cost. “That’s a phenomenal investment,” said Montesano.

The system, which is installed on the roof of two one-story residential buildings and one two-story common area, is one of the largest residential solar projects in Westchester County.

Sunrise Solar Solutions, headquartered in Briarcliff Manor, is a full-service New York State Energy Research and Development Authority solar installer and North American Board of Certified Energy Practitioners-certified installer. It offers sales, design, and installation of solar and off-grid solar energy systems for both homes and businesses.

Hard Work Pays off For Tuckahoe Cheerleader

Lanay Lattimore and her lemonade stand in Tuckahoe.

Lanay is 10 years old and wanted to join the Tuckahoe cheer team. Of course she agreed, and was excited. But Papa was wrong, because he was covering all her cost for cheer, he told her any money she made on the lemonade stand would match and donate to any charity she choses.

Lanay and her family were surprised and touched by Dave’s generosity, but also from the Tuckahoe community. Lanay raised more than $500 from the lemonade stand, and will use the money to buy books and donate them to the Tuckahoe Medical Center’s Children’s Library.

Congratulations, Lanay, for reminding us that hard work and effort usually results in great things happening. And thanks to David Pope for making sure that Lanay’s hard work was rewarded.
Race and Monuments

By Derickson Lawrence

Two days of public pageantry bring President Donald Trump to condemn white supremacists and the Confederate statue. What emerges from Trump's speech is a profound sense of loss and regret.

On Monday, July 18, Trump gave an address at the dedication of a memorial to Confederate soldiers and sailors. Despite the controversy surrounding the dedication, Trump was determined to make a statement that he would not be silenced.

During his speech, Trump emphasized the importance of preserving history and acknowledged the contributions of Confederate soldiers and sailors during the Civil War.

Trump also praised the Confederacy for its role in the defense of the Southern states during the Civil War and expressed his support for the Confederate battle flag.

However, the speech was met with criticism from both sides of the political spectrum. Some praised Trump for standing up to those who seek to remove Confederate symbols, while others condemned his comments as racist.

The debate over Confederate monuments and symbols continues to be a contentious issue in American society. As Trump's speech shows, there is a deep divide over how we remember and celebrate our past.

The race and monuments debate is not just about the past, but about the present and future. It is about how we remember those who came before us and how we honor their legacy.

It is also about how we approach the issue of race and its impact on society today. The debate over Confederate monuments is a microcosm of the larger societal issues that we face.

When you walk through the door, you can see the world turning. Your eyes are drawn to the Stars and Stripes waving in the wind.

But then, a familiar figure steps forward, and you realize you are not alone.

“Good evening, everyone,” says Jerry Lewis, as he walks onto the stage. “Thank you for being here.”

Lewis was the host of tonight’s event, which was held in conjunction with a vigil in the 16th Ward of Yonkers, New York.

In the end, as a country, we cannot forget the lessons of history. We must stand against those who would seek to tear us apart. And we must stand together, as one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

Jennifer Spencer Honored For Educational Excellence

Jennifer Spencer recently received the third Annual Education Mission Award in Honor of Sr. Marie Morris, S.C., a long-time teacher at the Westchester County School for the Physically Handicapped, also known as the John A. Coleman School in Valhalla. Spencer is the principal of the school and an inspiration to those around her. She is almost always the first person to volunteer for special projects and consistently takes on week-end and holiday job responsibilities. Over the years, her focus has laid on organizing the school’s arts and sensory materials, supporting the coordination of our Thanksgiving food drive and 100th Day of School celebration, developing a resource bank of community resources for families, and revitalizing our intergenerational program.

"Jen embodies the mission of the Coleman School and meets each day as an opportunity for students to achieve their greatness," said Executive Director Maureen Tomkiel. "Jen's enthusiasm, passion and dedication are a blessing to the Coleman School and an inspiration to those around her. She is a treasured member of our school community and worthy of this award."

Village Fair For Seniors is Sept. 19

The fifth annual Livable Communities Village Fair for Seniors will be 1-3 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 19 at the Yonkers Public Library. The free event will offer health and wellness programs, vendors, entertainment and more. It is open to all county seniors, their families and friends.

"This is a flagship event for our Livable Communities Initiative that features more than 50 vendors, activities and entertainment that seniors won’t want to miss," said Westchester County Executive Robert Astorino. "The fair is an opportunity to celebrate aging and underscores the fact that seniors are vital contributors to our communities who want to continue to learn and be engaged."

In addition to enjoying a variety of health and wellness programming, attendees will be able to take part in a cooking demonstration by Miss America Nia Sanchez. The event will also feature an informational packet on DSPS programming. The fair is a student-run event held in part to commemorate September as Intergenerational Month. The event will include a visit from the Girl Scouts Heart of the Hudson and provide participants with a chance to write their memories.

Other fair events include workshops by Qi Gong, a Chinese movement to improve health, and complimentary consultations with social workers made available from members of the Livable Communities Collaborative.

Registration for this event is preferred, but walk-ins are welcome. To sign up or for more information, contact Jennifer Crawford at 914-813-6263 or jqsu@westchestergov.com. For additional information about DSPS, call 914-813-8100 or visit www.westchestergov.com.

A History of Violence & Terror

The Ku Klux Klan has been here for more than 150 years, and the other white nationalist groups have a history almost as long of murder, bombings, rape and terror, just because – as Father Louis Hillebrand – we want to be treated as human beings.

President Donald Trump’s condemnation of these groups, after being prodded to do so when initially he was silent, shows that he is indeed his leader and his supporters are from the south. His and those groups are trying to undo everything President Barack Obama did and roll back all of the civil rights gains of the past 50 years.

Heather Heyer, who died from this violence, will go down in history as another heroine, along with James Rain, Pauline Michael Schaefer, Robert De Luca, Louise Vinson-Dahmer, and many others.

Yonkers Celebrates Indian Independence Day

Yonkers City Hall recently received a special visit from Yankees Sports Hall of Fame recipient Henry Fischer. Born and raised in Yonkers, Fischer was a local legend in the late 1950s and grew up to be a great talent in MLB. As a major league pitcher through the 1960s, Fischer thrived in 165 games with the Milwaukee Braves, Atlanta Braves, Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox. He had a total of 505 innings pitched and a career strikeout total in the major leagues of 365.

There is no doubt Fischer had an illustrious career in the major leagues. Transitioning to today, he said he hopes to fulfill his dream of giving back to the game, coaching on the high school or collegiate level.

Indian-American high school students from Yonkers were honored at the celebration.

One of the primary goals of the county legislative candidate is to ensure that the community works for open space, renewable energy, clean air and water. County Legislator Gordon Burrows is a strong advocate for the beautification of our county and the extensive initiatives that have taken place throughout the years.

When Burrows first started his position as a county legislator, there was much opposition to the bike path along the Saw Mill River Parkway. He was successful in having the portion opened within his district. Burrows has voted to prohibit barges on the Hudson River, limit the size of buildings on Palisade Vista, and prohibit the use of the 4- and 6-lane roads.

Recently, Burrows and his colleagues passed a historic development project, North 60. This will be the Westchester Bioscience and Technology Center, which is being built on 84 acres of land with 45 acres remaining of open green space. Burrows takes pride in the beauty of our county and the extensive initiatives that have taken place throughout the years.
