YoFi Fest 2016: Bigger and Better

When YoFi Fest founders David Steck and Patty Schumann launched their indie film festival in 2012, YoFi Fest was a small-scale affair. But with every passing year, YoFi has become a larger and more popular event. And this year, YoFi is bigger and better than ever.

YoFi Fest is a celebration of independent film, music, and creativity. The festival features a diverse range of films, concerts, and workshops, all aimed at promoting and supporting the arts. YoFi Fest is a place where artists can come together and share their work, and where audiences can experience new and exciting forms of entertainment.

YoFi Fest takes place from October 20 to 23, and offers a wide range of events. From indie films to music concerts, YoFi has something for everyone. And this year, the festival has expanded its offerings to include even more events.

YoFi Fest is run by a dedicated team of volunteers, who work tirelessly to make sure that the festival runs smoothly. They are passionate about the arts, and are committed to bringing high-quality events to the community.

So if you're a fan of indie film, music, or creativity in general, be sure to check out YoFi Fest 2016. It's a festival that is sure to be bigger and better than ever.
Riverides & Gorton Are Victors in H.S. Football

By Phil Foley

For Yonkers high school football teams were victorious last weekend: Riverside beat Yonkers 53-8, and Gorton easily defeated Palisades Prep 48-6.

When I saw The Journal News on Sunday morning I thought it had a third win, but it was not so, the gray paper had Yonkers Montessori School defeating Cresc 14-0, but the score was printed in reverse and Cresc actually won the game.

In other action, Hackley shut out Roosevelt 41-0 on Sep 25. Then on Sep 24, Saunders played a head-to-head game with Pelham, but lost 28-14.

Let me recap some of the action for you, Yonkers sports fans.

In the 15-10 loss to Yonkers, the scores of the Riverside were Sheet Kim, who rushed for 95 yards and had two touchdowns; and Caldwell Olson, who had 156 all-purpose yards and two TDs.

Thanks to Riverside Head Coach Michael Zoda for the game information.

On Sep 24 the Wolves Montessori School defeated Palisades Prep 3-6, although Gorton lost at halftime 14-0. Scoring for the Gators were Malik Jones and Gorton’s Jack Hiney.

In the other game, the tough battle between Pelham and Riverside was won by Riverside 53-8, and Gorton easily defeated Palisades Prep 48-6.

Mayor Mike Spano will flip the switch on a new, more efficient-energy system for the Science Barge, located on Yonkers’ waterfront, Thursday, Oct 6 at 4 p.m. The system, donated by Green Mountain Energy Sun Club at a value of $50,000, will modernize the off-grid electric system that powers the Science Barge.

“This donation from the Sun Club propels the Science Barge into the next century, totally updating the energy system that powers our hydropic form,” said Bob Walters, director of the Science Barge, a program of Groundwork Hudson Valley. “We now have double the power and double the energy reserves.”

The grant includes 12 new LG solar panels that produce a total of 4,320 watts and an Iron Edm-68 solar battery that is significantly more efficient than the outdated system it is replacing, according to Spano.

“The Sun Club loves working with unique nonprofits, and the Science Barge is an excellent demonstration of renewable energy and environmental education,” said Mark Parsons, president of the Green Mountain Energy Sun Club and YMA said Bob Walters, director of the Science Barge, a program of Groundwork Hudson Valley. “We’re proud to support the Science Barge by helping the sustainable urban farm operate completely off the grid.”

Aograntly, an anonymous donor, the Science Barge was recently purchased by Groundwork, hosting the organization from a long-time lease obligation. “Now, with the new energy system, the Science Barge is promoted to demonstrate and teach sustainable farming for the future, with zero carbon emissions, zero pesticides, and zero kills,” said Walters.

The Yonkers Montessori Eagles lost a heartbreaker to Croton on Sep 24 at YMA Field.

The Yonkers Montessori Academy Volleyball
Coach Brian Cozzali reported that YMA defeated Solomon Schechter 3-1. The match was played at Roosevelt at 3 p.m., and Saunders vs. Pal Prep at the Yonkers Montessori High School field at 5 p.m.

I also have one girls’ soccer game and one girls’ volleyball game to report.

Gorton’s previous game was defeated Riverside 2-1. Hanna Still caught two goals on the win with Camaj helping with her excellent defense, totaling a dominant force with seven kills; and Klaudia Anastasia Bryant, one of the team captains, was

In addition to Green Mountain Energy’s Sun Club, the Science Barge is funded by grants from the City of Yonkers, Cordellon Dominion, SEPA, WAGS, and The Environmental Fund and the Hudson River Foundation. The Barge is located at 99 Deck Y, Yonkers.
Two Yonkers Students Receive CNR Scholarships

The College of New Rochelle President Judith Huntington, along with New Rochelle Mayor Noam Bramson, Yonkers Mayor Michael Spano, and board for its recipients. The Mariano and Clara Rivera Scholarship that covers tuition, as well as room and board for its recipients. The scholarship was first created in 2014, is a four-year scholarship based on financial need and academic achievement. It is funded by the College of New Rochelle alumnae and from Yonkers and the nearby communities. This is the first time the college has presented two scholarships – to both a female student and a male student – since the school became a co-ed institution this semester.

Empire City & Yonkers Host 'Hire a Hero' Job Fair

Empire City Casino is teaming up with the City of Yonkers Department of Veterans Services to host the "Hire a Hero" Job Fair for military veterans and employers interested in career opportunities for veterans.

"I am honored to receive the National Home Infusion Association’s Congressional Leadership Award," said Tyler Wilson, president and CEO of National Home Infusion Association. "He has shown time and again his commitment to supporting the Veteran community, as well as the Home Infusion Industry.

"Mr. de Blasio is a natural champion in the fight against hunger. As a New Yorker, I am proud to join in his efforts to ensure that all our fellow New Yorkers have a place to call home," said Mayor Bill de Blasio.

Stewart-Cousins Combats Hunger

State Sen. Andrea Stewart-Cousins joined the school board, Mayor Mike Spano and more than 200 young men of color from Yonkers Public Schools last week as the school district announced its decision to embrace President Barack Obama’s "My Brother’s Keeper" challenge.

"My Brother’s Keeper" is a national initiative that aims to improve life outcomes for young men of color. The challenge calls upon schools to engage families and communities in appropriate and respectful ways to ensure that young men of color are given equitable access to high-quality schools, programs and support services.

The 2016-17 state budget includes a $20 million investment in support of this initiative, providing great opportunities in four categories: planning and execution of the "My Brother’s Keeper" challenge; a Teacher Opportunity Corps, which builds the pipeline of qualified teachers in high-need areas who reflect the diversity of the school districts they work in; improving family engagement throughout communities; and developing practices that exhibit cultural responsiveness to the needs of young men of color.

Dear Editor,

Congratulations to the Yonkers Rising for your piece last week concerning Colin Kaepernick’s conscientious stance on matters of race and justice in America. It is important to have this conversation, regardless of political affiliation. I am the person behind the letter, and I am a Yonkers resident.

I read your piece with great interest and came to the conclusion that it was an excellent piece. I believe that the country has gone through many different experiences in recent years, including the rise of the Black Lives Matter movement, the protests against police brutality, and the calls for social justice.

I also agree with the sentiment of “setting aside” and moving forward, as it is important to not dwell on the past and focus on the future. I encourage everyone to continue to have these conversations and to work towards a more just and equitable society.

Sincerely,

Yonkers celebrates Hispanic Heritage Month

Yonkers celebrates Hispanic Heritage Month with an exhibit at the Riverfront Library gallery.
Perstine Wesley, one of Yonkers’ true public servants, passed away last week. Services will be held Tuesday, Oct. 4 at Community Baptist Church, 156 N. Broadway, and viewing is from 10 a.m. to noon. A funeral service will follow immediately after viewing. The Rev. Clarence E. Bolling will conduct the services, and arrangements are at Brooks Memorial Home, 275 Warburton Ave.; 914-965-3781.

Wesley retired earlier this year after 54 years in the downtown as proprietor of Har-ry’s Shoe Repairs. He was the first African-American business owner in the neighborhood in the 1960s.

But Perstine Wesley was also a popular and well-loved community leader who led by example and through his actions. Each year, he spearheaded a number of local programs that help those in need, including collecting winter coats and distributing them to the community, providing free turkeys to families during Thanksgiving, managing the “Wesley and Friends Annual 5K Fun Run,” and much more.

A retirement dinner was given for Wesley over the summer. While all of Yonkers is saddened that he was unable to enjoy his retirement, he will always be remembered as a great example of how to participate and give back to the community you live and work in. His motto, “If you are going to do business in this community, then it is your obligation to put something back into it by helping wherever there is a need,” is how he will be remembered. Our prayers go out to his family.

For more than eight decades, Americans have joined together to honor the mothers of service members who died while serving their country – recognized as Gold Star Mothers. Last weekend, Yonkers veterans and elected officials joined at the Yonkers Gold Star Mother’s Memorial to pay tribute to the mothers who have lost their children in war.

The Memorial, dedicated 10 years ago, is located in Van der Donck Park. Hope Hollinsworth-Coaxum, president of Gold Star Mothers of Yonkers, joined with other Gold Star moms from Yonkers to remember their fallen heroes. Lou Navarro, director of veterans’ services for the City of Yonkers, welcomed all. Navarro, a Vietnam veteran, was joined by former Mayor John Spencer and City Court Judge Ed Gaffney, also Vietnam vets.

Jerry Collins, chaplain of the Bajart American Legion Post, said the opening and closing prayers for the families of those who gave our country the ultimate sacrifice. Kyra Cardwell led the Pledge of Allegiance, and Vaughn Meier, a student at School 13, sang our national anthem.

Congressman Eliot Engel, State Sens. George Latimer and Andrea Stewart-Cousins, Assemblymember Shelley Mayer and City Councilmembers John Larkin, Michael Sabatino, Mike Bosut, Christopher Johnson, Corazon Pineda-Isaac and Dennis Shepherd also attended.

Stewart-Cousins presented a proclamation to the Gold Star Mothers, which has pro-vided support since 1928. “Losing a child is a pain no parent should ever have to suffer,” she said. “Gold Star Mothers help each other carry the burden of their losses and honor the memories of their children with diligent and compassionate service to their community. Their sacrifices weigh heavily on our hearts, and the courage they display in the face of such great adversity inspires us all.”
