Residents are reminded that school buses being operated in the city must now display a “How’s My Driving?” sticker for greater accountability.

Drivers are encouraged to call the police department at 377-7900 if they see a school bus being driven in an unsafe manner. Additionally, members of the YPD Community Affairs Division hosted a Stop and Shake Station in Getty Square last week to greet community members and interact with Yonkers students as they returned home from school.

Mayor Mike Spano, YPS Superintendent Dr. Michael Yazurlo and Yonkers Police officers with students and AAA officials, reminding drivers that students are back to school and to drive safely.

Hambletonian Champion Pinkman Heads into the 61st Yonkers Trot at Yonkers Raceway.

Hambletonian champion Pinkman heads the list of 11 3-year-olds entered in the $580,000 Yonkers Trot, the second jewel in the Triple Crown, at Yonkers Raceway.

The 61st edition of Yonkers’ Raceway signature trotting event for sophomore colts and geldings started off with a pair of $40,000 eliminations Aug. 29, with the first four finishers in each heat remaining for the half-million-dollar final Sept. 5.

Pinkman faced the challenge of Crazy Wow, the winner of the Dick McGann Trot and last year’s freshman NYSS champ in the first elimination, the evening’s fourth race. Here was the full field: 1 – Iain Cameron (Trend Smokeyhammer), 2 – Crazy Wow (Tim Tetrick), 5 – Pinkman (Yannick Gingras), 4 – Workout Wonder (Dan Daley), and 3 – Wings of Royalty (Bryan Scott).

In the second elimination, carded as the fifth race, six will vie for the four berths to the final Sept. 5. The entrants, alphabetically, are: Dealt a Winner, Dude’s the Man, In the Arsenal, My Life as a Rock, Wonder (Dan Dube), and 5 – Wings of Royalty (Bryan Scott).

Spano Joins ‘Mayors United Against Anti-Semitism’

Mayor Mike Spano last week joined members of the American Jewish Committee to take part in their “Mayors United Against Anti-Semitism” pledge, which calls upon civic leaders to promote respectful co-existence among peoples of all races, ethnicities and faiths in their respective communities.

“Mayors need to stand firm against anti-Semitism, racism or discrimination of any kind,” said Spano. “Eliminating hate and persecution around the world begins by educating our young people at home. Children are not born with hate, it is learned, and so we must teach them to love and respect others in place of passing judgment.”

Spano joins dozens of mayors in this effort, including: Bill de Blasio of New York City, Eric Garcetti of Los Angeles, Rahm Emanuel of Chicago, Michael Nutter of Philadelphia and Carlos Gimenez of Miami, among others.

By signing the pledge, U.S. mayors are called to publicly address anti-Semitism in their communities and take action against discrimination.

The American Jewish Committee is the leading global Jewish advocacy organization that works to enhance the well-being of Jews worldwide and advance human rights and democratic values for all people. For more information on AJC Global Jewish Advocacy, visit www.ajc.org.

AUTUMN IN NEW YORK WITH METRO-NORTH

To experience the season’s arts, theater and events, take Metro-North.

Metro-North’s comfort and convenience make it the smartest way into NYC this fall season. With no traffic or parking to deal with, you can concentrate on enjoying museums, food and film festivals, Broadway and crisp autumn days and nights.

Meet Beautiful Bonnie

Bring Bonnie home today!

The Yonkers Animal Shelter has many pets available for adoption. Bonnie is a true "pocket pet." She's been in a kennel only 1 year and weighs no more than 45 pounds. She arrived at the Yonkers Animal Shelter as a stray dog a few weeks ago and settled in immediately.

She is great with people and loves to play ball. She will return it and bring it back to you, however, she also is content to chill in the shade of a tree and play by herself. She was real princess at a recent adoption event and is eager to learn more - if only she had a person to teach her!

Bonnie is dog-reactive, so at this time she should be the only pet in the household, and children should be older than 12. She would love a yard to play ball in, but could do as well with city living if given proper exercise.

Yonkers Animal Shelter is open seven days a week, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

On This Day in Yonkers History...

Thursday, Sept. 7, 1902: Members of the Yonkers Board of Education had met to consider the hiring of teachers. There was a lack of qualified teachers, and vacancies were occurring. The Board was required to fill the vacancies with teachers of high-quality. The Board finally decided to hire two teachers for the upcoming school year.

Friday, Sept. 8, 1902: William Allen Butler passed away. Butler was a prominent Yonkers resident and holds a significant place in the city's history. He was involved in various civic and charitable activities during his lifetime.

Saturday, Sept. 9, 1911: John Havemeyer of Yonkers died. Havemeyer was a wealthy businessman and philanthropist. He was a member of the Havemeyer family, which owned the famous Nestlé chocolate company. Havemeyer was known for his philanthropic efforts, including the establishment of several charitable foundations.

Sunday, Sept. 13, 1902: Ground was broken for the Washington Park Library. The library was to be a part of the Washington Park complex and was designed to be a place for intellectual and cultural activities.

Wednesday, Sept. 9, 1911: Old Yonkers man is also a proud Army veteran. The man's name is John Doe, and he served during World War II. He is still watch over stately historic homes like Philipse Manor Hall. For more information on membership in YHS, visit www.facebook.com/YonkersHistorical.

Improve Healthy Habits At an Early Age

The Yonkers Family YMCA wants families in Yonkers to understand how a child's weight affects his or her health—and how to adopt healthy habits.

September Childhood Obesity Awareness Month

Identifying and addressing childhood obesity has never been more important. Childhood obesity is common, costly and a major public health crisis. By the age of 10 years, about 16% of children and adolescents in the United States are considered overweight or obese, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Thus, more than one out of three children, across all racial and ethnic lines, will grow up to be overweight or obese. As a result, children are more likely to develop health problems such as type 2 diabetes, hypertension, high cholesterol and some cancers.

In New York State, 43% of all children are overweighted and obese, according to the CDC.

Following a nation-wide mission to increase more activity and healthier eating habits into their daily routine.

Make water the drink of choice (supple- mented by age-appropriate portions of 100 percent fruit juices and low-fat milk) and make it easy for children to opt for fruits and vegetables by offering two or three colorful options.

Feet first in and match foods and fruits and vegetables to provide variety.

Develop a child's interest in day-time outdoor play (tomatoes for kids) and break a meal at least twice a week by pairing fruits and vegetables with a meat or main course.

Reduce screen time in front of a television, computer, tablet, cell phone or video games which should be limited to two hours a day for kids and seven to eight hours for adults.

Provide a fruit and/or vegetable at all meals and snacks, only provide milk and water as beverages, and serve meals and snacks family-style, set limits on snacks, and provide guidance and support to encourage vegetable, selecting and preparing them, and be flexible and encourage your child to try new foods.

Fight Procrastration & Reach Your ‘Someday’

By Julissa Javier

Social Security assistant district manager, Yonkers.

Maybe someday you plan to outlive the deepest depths of the ocean, or take a trip on a space shuttle. Class. Perhaps someday you plan to drive across the United States or sail around the world. Well, these goals take preparation.

On Sept. 6, we mark Fight Procrastination Day and challenge you to take the first steps to realizing your “someday.”

Someday, you probably want to retire. Whether you’re beginning your career or one mid-way through, it’s never too late to start planning for retirement. Even if you’re just starting your career, “someday” isn’t too far away. That’s why it’s so important to start thinking about retirement now. “Even if you’re not thinking about retirement this year, you should be thinking about your future healthy need and financial choices.

If you’re a procrastinator, we have good news. Opening a “my Social Security” account at www.socialsecurity.gov/myaccount is one of the easiest and funnest things you can do to plan for retirement.

Clean Water Rule Protects Wetlands and Streams

Developers can no longer pass over wetlands and oil companies can no longer dump into New York’s streams and lakes. The Yonkers Family YMCA, along with thousands of other environmental groups, supports the Clean Water Rule that took effect last week. The measure protects streams that feed the Hudson River, as well as drinking water sources for three consecutive Sundays– Sept. 13, 20, and 27.

“Bicycle Sundays is presented by Westchester County Parks, with additional support provided by Friends of Westchester County Parks, Inc., and the Westchester County Government.”

Bicycle Sundays return to the Bronx River Parkway.

County Executive Robert Astorino last week announced the return of Bicycle Sundays, sponsored by the Bike Coalition of Greater New York, at the Bronx River Parkway Hospital, on the Bronx River Parkway this fall for three consecutive Sundays – Sept. 13, 20, and 27.

Despite broad public support for restored clean water protections to places like the Catskill and Delaware watersheds, oil and gas companies, developers and their allies have pushed a campaign against them. The U.S. House and key Senate committees have held multiple bills to block or severely weaken the rule.

Major water polluters, from coal company executives to manufacturers, have also filed suit against the rule.

The Clean Water Rule is on solid ground legally, scientifically and politically,” said Follmann. “Tomorrow marks an exciting new era for the health of our families and our waterways.”

A Kiss tribute band, a Riverfest tradition, will return this year.

Rachel Jonas is the sort of artist that makes you see everyday, mundane materials in a new way. Aluminum foil, cellophane, spray paint and tape are all manipulated by Jonas to create in triking two- and three-dimensional sculptures that burst with color, energy, shine and a touch of mystery.

Jonas has had her Westchester artist studio, 4411, at YOHO since 2014, when she was referred by an acquaintance after pitching an art residency with the Arts Students League. She said she loves the fantastic views and incredible light her dayway. “We expect to attract people from all over the county, as well as people coming up from the five boroughs,” said Dan Lipka, BID executive director. “Riverfest has now taken in place as one of the hottest go-to events in the New York area. The fact that it’s right on the river adds an exciting dimension, too.”

Yonkers Riverfront will feature 25 live music performances on five unique stages, as well as free rides, a break-dancing contest, crafts, obstacle courses, deck tours of the Sloop Clearwater, Grammy winners, Rock-and-Roll Hall-of-Famers, animal shows, vendors, international cuisine, environmental exhibits and more.

Yonkers Riverfront is the best free festival in Westchester County and this year has more entertainment than ever before. The event is presented by Yonkers Downtown BID, with support from the City of Yonkers, Domino Sugar, Sterling Bank and St. Joseph’s Medical Center.

Yonkers Riverfront will take place in the new Downtown Yonkers. Details and updates can be found at www.yonkersriverfest.com and on Facebook and Twitter.

Spide-Man, Captain America, the Hulk, and Black Widow will save the day on Super Hero Day, taking place Saturday, Sept. 5 at Playland Park in Rye. Two action-packed shows will be held on the park’s Music Tower Stage at 2:30 and 5:30 p.m., with a “meet and greet” between shows at 3:30 p.m.

“This is an exciting day at Playland a perfect way to enjoy a little extra summer fun,” said County Executive Robert Astorino.

All shows are free with park admission, and $10 for non-residents.
