The 11th annual Yonkers Marathon will take place downtown Yonkers on Sunday, Oct. 21, and of the nearly 750 people currently registered the number is expected to take part, more than 200 of the runners are from one team – Team Aisling – representing the Aisling Irish Community Center on McLean Avenue in Yonkers. Runners are coming from Westchester, Rockland, New Jersey, New York City and the boroughs, and as far away as Indiana – all of whom chose the course, the marathon, half-marathon or 5K to run. They are running, walking, driving and taking the train to Yonkers to be a part of something great.

Viewers will be sure to see them coming down the path geared up in green team shirts – a sea of green.

The team has been training for the past nine months to get ready for the big day, and along the way team members have gotten in shape, made new friends, reconnected with old friends, and want to continue running as a group after Sunday’s race.

Team Aisling has runners challenging themselves to their first 5K, some who are excited to do their first marathon, and experienced runners that run marathons every year. The group came together with a common goal: to create awareness and raise funds for the Aisling Irish Community Center and the program and services the center provides.

The center is a cornerstone in the area, as well as a resource for individuals over and free. You can support the team at https://app.mobilecause.com/vf/TeamAisling. You can also use the course and cheer all the runners this Sunday.

Vendor Presenters of Team Aisling are Donnelly Irish Meals, Libby Van Lines, James Trading Group and All Boro Flooring.

Aisling Irish Community Center provides resources and social services for the Aisling Irish Community including community resources for Yonkers, Queens and the entire tri-state area. Its mental health program includes free and confidential counseling services with a licensed clinical social worker and life coach with extensive mental health experience in supporting individuals, children, families and groups.

Services are provided at the center, off-site and via phone and email. All aimed at providing a comfortable and private experience. In addition, it promotes a health and wellness campaign in the Irish-Irish-American community and a suicide prevention program targeted at the entire community. Monthly workshops on mental health issues are ongoing, and include issues such as depression, domestic violence, drug and alcohol dependency, and suicide.

The center provides an Irish arts and culture program including classes in Irish language, music and dance, assistance with employment and accommodation services for senior citizens; various classes for adults and children; and weekly AA meetings. Its educational, cultural and wellness programs/services benefit more than 500 people each week.

The Irish Volunteers for the Homeless program is a weekly feeding program, delivering food to the homeless at numerous locations throughout New York City.

The Yonkers Police Athletic League recently accepted a gift from Beck Chevrolet of an AED unit for use at the PAL and all of their events. An automated external defibrillator is a portable electronic device that diagnoses the life-threatening cardiac rhythms of ventricular fibrillation and pulseless ventricular tachycardia, and is able to treat them through defibrillation, the application of electricity which stops the arrhythmia. Russell Geller, president of Beck’s Chevrolet, in Yonkers, has gifted the Yonkers PAL with a potential lifesaving, state-of-the-art defibrillation device. This is a device that PAL hopes to never have to use, but will have it just in case. Everyone at the PAL has been trained and certified in the use of AED, CPR and first aid. The group is also planning to offer training/certification sessions for members of the community in the near future. The unit will be mounted in the main gym where it will be available in case of an emergency. The unit has been trained and certified in the use of AED, CPR and first aid. You would think “West Side Story” has returned to the Big Apple when over the weekend, the leader of the Proud Boys spoke at the Republican club headquarters in New York City. After the speech, lights broke out between the groups including throwing of bottles.

The fight is not over turf but political ideology and beliefs. I was thinking of putting my political knuckles out that I was in the 1978 Yonkers High School production of “West Side Story” on and pushing to help the authorities break up the fights.

Had we ever heard of these groups before last weekend? Maybe those in Omaha or Nebraska were familiar with them, but I would venture to say that the vast majority of people in this region hasn’t a clue that these militant groups exist.

“When they go low, we go high.” Don’t you remember Michelle Obama making that point during the presidential campaign between Donald Trump and Hillary Clinton? When did things change for the Democrats to the point of “When they go low, we go ma- shuga!”

Last weekend’s event was not the first time Democrats, those supposedly on the “high ground,” encouraged their support- ers to engage in violence. This summer, Cali- fornia Democrat Maxine Waters called on her supporters to “Damn the torpedoes, full ahead!” Former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton promised that you “cannot be denied” and that members of the Democratic Party. Former At- torney General Eric Holder told a Democratic audience at a campaign rally in Georgia that they should “kick” Repub- licans when they perceive them as “going low.”

What has happened to my Democratic Party? This behav- ior in the party have taken the dialogue to An extremely dangerous lev- el. With a minute, it’s not only extremities, it’s HILL- ary! Does she really think this will help her win the party’s nominination in 2020? In get support for what- ever her future plans are? The Kavanaugh nomination really brought out the crazies. Ashley Kavanaugh, Justice Brett Kavanaugh’s wife, and her daughters received multiple credible threats. Rep. Diane Black, R-Tennessee, received such a threatening phone call that she had it been inacted.

Jamie Gaither, wife of Sen. Cory Gard- ner, R-Colorado, received a text of a behead- ing after the vote to confirm Justice Kav- nough. Several Republican senators had their personal information, including home addresses, posted to Wikipedia for threaten- ing purposes by a Democrat House stuffer. Congressmen Clay Higgins, R-Louisiana, received threatening phone calls that led to his man’s arrest.

Sen. Rand Paul, R-Kentucky, and his wife, Kelly Paul, have both received credible threats. Sen. Ted Cruz, R-Texas, and his wife, as well as White House Press Secretary Sarah Huckabee-Sanders, were chased out of restaurants. Department of Homeland Security Secretary Kirstjen Nielsen was confronted by protesters and horri- fied out of a D.C. restaurant.

Does this mean politicians and govern- ment officials can’t go out and eat their pasta, chicken or steak without having their meal interrupted? Democrats and Republicans need to get their acts together. Leaders of both parties need to stop the violence and get back to the business of the day. Continued on Page 7

Dear Editor:

I’ve been living in Yonkers for 48 years and I can probably tell you the names of the last nine mayors of this city. Not the last nine mayors. I think hard enough I believe I could. What I can say is that most Spano has been for by the fact they’ve over here.

I’ve seen DeFlorio, Lisale, Zinola do nothing but get things in trouble. I have seen (with respect to his memory) Mr. Muccio, not able do to what he was in mind and heart because he inherited a news from Angelo Muccio. I have seen the shambles of Angelo Martirand not, but once, I have seen blank Spallone rendered ineffective by starting in light he could never win. It troubles me to say this about blank Spallone because he was my friend, but the truth should be told.

I’ve seen John Spano use this city in his personal playground to satisfy his every whim. Thank God I am say Phil Amodio was more of a leader than his predecessor, contrary to my belief that he was going to carry a carbon copy of his father. I was glad to be wrong about Phil Amodio, but he was not perfect. But who was.

The same thing I say about Mike Spano. He is not perfect, but he is far better than the rest of them.

The reason I am enumerating this light chronology is because I asked Mr. Spano about resourcing this city and he contradicted me on term limits. Also, I remain mystified that when John Spano tried to for a third term, he opposed him very strongly. I remember quite well my words at a City Council meeting: “Eight years of free car and free gasoline is more than enough.”

It was difficult then and it is different now, we know what he has to do or we do not know what we are going to get. So, in order to compe- tion of all the projects initiated by Mike Spano’s administration, we need to go back to the bolt for term one. I have been a supporter of Mike Spano’s since his first run and I have never asked for anything for my loyal support; I have never held a job or position as his administration, all I asked of him was to do his best for Yonkers, the city I love, and I can say my opinion has not been disappointed me.

I ask the mayor publicly Mr. Mayor, will you run for one more term, given the oppor- tunity? Please, finish what you started. Obie Rodriguez

Yonkers

Dear Editor:

Once again, Mr. Schoen shows his left- leaning bias and possible currying of favor with Yonkers Kane. The Supreme Court has held a job or position in his administration, all I know that Mr. Spallone since his fi rst run and I have never asked for anything for my loyal support; I have never held a job or position as his administration, all I asked of him was to do his best for Yonkers, the city I love, and I can say my opinion has not been disappointed me.

I don’t know how our democracy can survive individuals like Mr. Schoen demands the rest of the electorate as stupidly and only those who think Mike Taylor Swift are “intelligent.” I guess Mr. Schoen didn’t believe the seven FBI reports that were done on John Kane, which found Kane to be highly qualified and of the most imper- sonable character, and moreover, the absence of sexual assault.

How can Mr. Schoen, who supports Mr. Taylor Swift, like his alma mater of John Kane.

One of the examples of Mr. Schoen’s bias against a majority of the incumbent city and of his currying of favor with elector- ate is the Mayoral primary. Mr. Schoen shows his lack of a moral reasoning.

I do not work to make my name known as it is foolishness to express my opinions to the council members; they are well aware of my opinion and take advantage of their terms for political gain and do not have the time to fight “City Hall,” Yvonnes of this city of never adequately funding the schools.

Yonkers Clock Tower will be bathed in purple light this Friday, October 19, 2018 to mark Domestic Violence Awareness Month.

It takes a coordinated effort by all corners of the community - law enforcement, advocates, community groups and schools - to combat the issue of domestic violence and declare that it will not be tolerated in Yonkers. The city-wide “GoesPurple4DV” campaign, which is spearheaded by the New York State Office for the Prevention of Domestic Violence (www.opdv.gov).

This campaign encourages public, private and non-profit entities to raise awareness of domes- tic violence, which affects people of all age groups, race, social orientation, gender identity or socio-economic status.

The Yonkers Commission on Human Rights stands in solidarity with survivors of domestic violence. In 2003, the commission secured a reso- lution with the State Senate to declare October as Domestic Violence Awareness Month and calling them being discriminated against by their employers. If you believe you have been discriminated against due to domestic violence, you can file a complaint with the Yonkers Commission on Human Rights by contacting 9-1-1-477-6280 or YonkersCDHR-OnLine@yonkersny.gov, or contacting the New York State Division of Hu- man Rights.

All Yonkers and New York State residents were asked to wear purple Oct. 18 to help gen- erate discussion and awareness of domestic vio- lence and dating abuse.

Once again, Mr. Schoen shows his left- leaning bias toward those he sees as his own. It is not once, but twice. I have seen Hank Spallone do what was in his mind and heart because he was his best at something, but he was not perfect. But who is?

I was glad to be wrong about Phil Amodio, but he was not perfect… But who is?

Yonkers Gets Perfect Score On Equality Index, Again

The Human Rights Commission Foun- dation, in partnership with the Equality Fede- ration Institute, recently released its sixth annual Municipal Equality Index, a rating system of LGBTQ inclusion in municipal law and policy, scoring the City of Yonkers with a perfect 100.

Yonkers was one of four cities in New York to receive a perfect score, and one of 78 nation- ally.

“ Our administration works tirelessly toward full equality amongst our residents and employ- ees,” said City Commission, Vincent Spano. “We are once again extremely proud to be part of the growing list of communities with a perfect score on the Municipal Equality Index. Our ongoing efforts to increase awareness and support for our residents’ greatest strength and the respect we have for one another, regardless of who you love.

Yonkers was specifically recognized for its non-discrimination laws, municipal services, law enforcement, and leadership of LGBTQ equality. June 2018 marked the first time Yonkers hosted a pride parade, which generated a significant outpouring of support from the residents from the area.

“ I am proud to know that we are one of 78 cities nationwide to score a perfect score on the Municipal Equality Index,” said Yonkers City Commission Mayor Michael Spano. “We can attribute this to the hard work of Mayor Spano’s administration, the city’s General Advisory Board and our committed residents.”

Yonkers is a multi-culture city that is diverse and our residents are respected and embraced regardless of race, ethnicity, sexual identity or socio-economic status.

We promote a safe environment that allows everyone to co-create and create that is free from threats to contribute to the betterment of the City of Yonkers. Our first pride festival was a huge success, having been supported by the community at large. Congratulations to all."

The 2018 MEI reveals that cities across the nation are not waiting for their state or the federal government to pass laws that protect their LGBTIQ community, and that’s why they are instituting some state elected offi cials threaten to deny cities the ability to ex- tend fully-exclusive protections to their residents and workers.

This year, 78 cities achieved perfect scores for advancing fully-inclusive policies and practices to protect LGBTIQ residents and workers. Since 2013, the Municipal Equality Index has grown to become the most-mentioned campaign of its kind with a perfect 100.

Engel: Despite Social Security Increase, We Can Do Better

Congressman Eliot Engel, a founding member of the Expand Social Security Caucus, said the most recent year’s announced Social Security Cost of Living Adjustment of 2.8 percent for seniors was a “welcome improvement” over recent increases, but that we could do better. “This country has a solemn duty to protect its seniors, and the best way to do that continues to be through the Social Security,” said Engel. “Annual COLA increases have varied from ‘paltry’ to ‘barely adequate’ in recent years, and although the 2019 increase is a welcome improvement, it still isn’t enough. That’s why I have introduced the ‘Guaranteed 3 Percent COLA for Seniors Act,’ which would ensure our seniors get the support they need.”

“Current COLA increases are based on an outdated formula that doesn’t adequately account for the expenses the average senior incurs, like medication costs,” he continued. “My bill would do two things: update the formula the government uses to one that better reflects the costs seniors typically face, and set a floor of 3 percent to ensure that every senior citizen receives at least a 3 percent COLA each year. At a time when Republicans in Congress are doing everything they can to cut safety net programs for seniors, I am doing everything I can to protect and expand them.”

Oct. 22, 1936: County Judge Gerald No- man heard the arguments appealing the conviction of Rose O’Gorman and William Matthews for violation of Yonkers’ “anti-shots” law. O’Gorman and Matthews were New York newspaper reporters who challenged this law. Oct. 22, 1942: Responding to an appeal by Fr. Arthur Anward, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception (St. Mary’s), owners of plans in St. Mary’s Cemetery deoted more than 2½ tons of plot railings to the war effort. L. P. Prok, superintendent of the cemetery, on Sprain Road, added that in one section he would need to cut two tons to remove the railings; he estimated that would contrib-

Oct. 22, 1945: In a letter that North Broadway resident and head leader “Little Jack Little” sent to his family, he dispelled the glamour of the South Sea Islands, especially the intensity of the heat. Partnered with Ray Bogle, the pair traveled the Southwest Pacif-eral Grand Jury for questioning on the beer hose found in the city’s sewer system. They did not shed any light on the investigation.

Oct. 23, 1940: High School of Commerce students set up an employment booth at the school’s Guidance Department and sent letters to local businesses, labor unions, and government offices asking for “tedious burdens” that the girls could do. A few of the chores the girls were willing to perform were typing term papers and business correspondence at 10 cents per page, housecleaning and dishwashing at 25 cents per hour, and babysitting, charging 50 cents for the first four hours and 25 cents each hour after that.

Eresperanza Deli & Grocery Store is a small business that serves the community with affordable, healthy breakfast, salad and lunch options. When in the neighborhood, shoppers can find a variety of items, and members of the community don’t have to leave their neighborhood to shop. The store is open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily.

To be considered “local,” businesses sign a certificate to pledge to use locally grown produce and local farmers, use local vendors and prioritize local employment. They are also required to have at least one owner who is an immigrant to the United States.

The City of Yonkers recently honored actor and former Yonkers resident Art Carney with a street renaming at Westchester Avenue between Margaret Place and Pennsylvania Avenue, now named “Art Carney Place.” Joining Mayor Mike Spano; Councilmembers Sabatino, Breen, Merante, Rubbo and Pineda-Isaac; and State Sen. Shelley Mayer were members of the Carney Family, who brought along the hat that Carney made famous in his portrayal of Ed Norton in the “Honeymooners.”

Yonkers YMCA Celebrates 135 Years

The Yonkers Family YMCA celebrated 135 years of serving the people of Yonkers with a dinner at the Roosevelt Ballroom. This year’s honorees included the Yonkers Police Explorers, a branch of the Yonkers Police Department made up of young men and women that are learning about policing and serving their community. Kelly Chiantelli, who currently serves as director of the Office of Aging for the City, was recognized for her service to Yonkers in that position, and many other positions. Hector Lopez, president of the Westchester Hispanic Law Enforcement Association, was honored for his work in the Yonkers community. Linda Heyward and the Yonkers Community Action Program were honored for their service to Yonkers as a voice for women, families, the impoverished, youth and seniors. The Yonkers Federation of Teachers and its President Samantha Rosado Ciriello were honored for their service in addition to the hard work and dedication that YFT members provide the 26,000 students in YPS every year.
